

Some in Favor, But Concerned

Aldermen on Flood Work

KINGSTON city, state or county would be responsible for is still unanswered. It is anticipated that the question will come before the Legislative and Rules Committee in the near future. Meanwhile, County Legislator Richard D. Nace, a member of the Lower Esopus Waterways Committee, which does not favor the uptown project because it does not include protection for all residences along the stream from Hurley to Saugerties, said the Common Council does not favor the project because of the probable costs. Some council members have pointed out that the council vote 11 to 2 at its Jan. 5, 1971 meeting in support of the project which would protect the uptown Kingston Plaza Shopping Center and Urban Renewal projects in the area. They point out that there is a vast difference between approving a proposal and authorizing expenditure for a project. It is reported that when the council first considered the plan, it was under the impression that the city would merely be responsible for maintenance of the facility which would include levees, flood walls, a ponding area and pumping station. A 1948 law however stipulates that the federal government can pay but $1 million of the $1,270,000 project with local governments being responsible for the remainder.

Four Variances Approved By Zoning Appeals Board

KINGSTON The City of Kingston Zoning Board of Appeals approved four applications for variances at a public hearing Tuesday night, rejected one request to sell food for consumption at a St. James Street address and held in abeyance a sixth decision concerning a request to park cars on an East Strand property. According to George Radcliffe, housing inspector, the board approved the following: an application of Marie Zacheo, present owner and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Chuang, proposed buyer, who requested a variance to use the ground floor of 23-25 Clinton Avenue for the sale of groceries. It was noted that the store had been closed for more than one year and it is located in a residential zone. Also, an application of Anthony J. Minervini, owner and operator of the Opera House Restaurant, 275 Fair Street, who requested a variance to affix a sign at right angles to the property facing the street. Approved also was the application of the estate of Alvin Wood, owners of Katrine Realty Corp., Fair Street, prospective buyers, who request a variance to change the property at 365 Washington Avenue from a three family to a four family dwelling. The approval was given pending further approval of the specifications by the Building Department. Application of Central Auditing Systems Inc., (WKNY) of 210-212 Fair Street was also approved. It requested a variance to construct a receiving antenna higher than the present zoning ordinance now permits in an 0-1 zone. No decision was reached in the application of L & M Auto Parts of 213-215 East Strand which requested a variance to park cars on its property which is now zone residential two. A special permit was requested. The decision was held in abeyance until a recommendation is received from the Ulster County Planning Board on June 28. L & M's request was greeted with opposition by many persons who spoke against the proposal, according to the office of the building inspector. The application of Gregory Pappas of 83 St. James Street was rejected and his attorney is expected to file a bill of particulars. The rejection was based on non-conforming use and it is anticipated that the matter will probably reach the courts before it is settled. Pappas requested a variance to sell food for consumption on his premises (primarily sandwiches and beverages.)

Vols Will Mark Freedom Day

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN SAUGERTIES Volunteer fire companies throughout the county will cooperate with participating churches in the observance of Freedom Day on Sunday, July 4, with the ringing of bells at 2 p.m. Participation in the observance was approved at Tuesday night's meeting of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association held in Donlon Auditorium at Saugerties Firehouse. Patricia Christine Czarski of Lake Katrine, Miss Ulster at the mutual aid center with County of 1971, was named honorary chief of Ulster County and will participate in the county convention parade July 24 at Rosendale in that capacity. Tickets for the convention dinner Thursday, July 22 at the Chalet, Rosendale are now available from Vols Secretary Fred Harder, President Maurice Crookston, banquet chairman and his co-chairmen including William Terry of Tillson and Robert Sheehan of Rosendale. Seating is limited to 300 and the dinner is for members only. Ulster County Fire Coordinator Ray Morris Jr., announced that training classes start at Glasco Fire Station Sept. 2 and at Kerhonkson Fire Hall Sept. 7. His May report listed a total of 1,635 radio calls

Brydges Helped Span the State and CSEA Gap

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The Senate majority leader, arrived back in Albany Tuesday and took a personal hand in the bargaining talks.

It was after Brydges stepped in, a union spokesman said today, that state and union officials moved toward a compromise in their dispute over the firing of 8,300 state employees because of budget cuts.

The spokesman said he didn't know whether Brydges played a formal role as a "mediator," but said he used his influence to get things moving toward a settlement.

The only formal acknowledgment of Brydges' action was contained in a statement issued by Theodore C. Wenzl, CSEA president, Wednesday.

In stressing the unity and dedication of CSEA officials and staff, Wenzl said he wanted to express his "personal appreciation" for the participation of Brydges in the 11th hour efforts to settle the dispute.

"... Sen. Brydges' efforts to move the state and CSEA off the collision course apparently developing was a significant element in the continuance of discussions later in the day and the achievement of the final settlement," Wenzl said.

The agreement to avoid the walkout, scheduled to take effect at 12:01 this morning, means the state will retain, or rehire, workers with permanent competitive jobs, by giving them priority in filling vacancies.

The governor's office said it will not cost additional money to rehire those workers already laid off because of "mistaken" work by department heads to make other economies.

For its part, CSEA said that while it was "not entirely" satisfied with the agreement but said it represented an honest effort on the state's part to meet the problem.

Although cautioning about "unanticipated economic conditions," the state's operations director, T. Norman Hurd, announced:

"The state will make intensive efforts to find openings, and will use all legal methods within our fiscal means for seeing that the appropriate placements are made by Aug. 1 of this year."

Hurd also released a breakdown on the "numbers game" the two sides have been playing for weeks. It goes:

—Some 6,057 workers have already been laid off in the economy move, including 4,657 permanent and 1,400 provisional employees.

—More temporary employees may be laid off to meet the original target of 8,300 firings, but dismissal of permanent workers "is largely complete."

—Of the permanent employees fired, 3,481 are represented by CSEA. Some 839 of them have already been rehired.

Hurd said the cautious rehiring was accomplished through "stringent and resourceful economics" in all departments; abolishing vacant positions; transferring jobs to federal funds, and reducing the number of seasonal employees.

A SQUEAKER — The U. S. Conference of Mayors narrowly passed a resolution calling for withdrawal of all American troops from Vietnam by the end of this year. The resolution passed on a close vote after a bitter debate. Mayors John Lindsay (L) of New York, Joseph Alioto (C) of San Francisco and Frank Zullo of Norwalk, Conn., were leaders in the passage of the resolution. It was the first time the mayors conference had taken a stand on the Vietnam War. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Bigger Withholdings Seen Rx for Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of the City Council believe that increased withholding to reflect a retroactive increase in the city income tax can remove the need for other taxes Mayor John V. Lindsay wants imposed.

Council President Sanford D. Garelik and Finance Committee Chairman Mario Merola both said they thought all the money due under an increased income tax should be withheld.

Lindsay's budget director, Edward K. Hamilton, faced a three-hour grilling by councilmen Wednesday, during which he said the administration plans to increase the withholding rate in September.

But the increased income tax authorized by the state legislature is retroactive to last Jan. 1 and runs for 18 months until the end of the next fiscal year, June 30, 1972.

City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame had said Tuesday that Lindsay's proposed $8.8 billion budget contained $330 million of underestimated revenues and inflated expenditures.

The council leadership indicated it was inclined to accept Beame's contention that Hamilton's estimate of a $190 million yield from the higher city income tax was too modest by $135 million.

Hamilton denied Beame's assertion that the yield was being figured only for the 12 months beginning July 1. The budget director's belief that withholding should not be increased retroactively—leaving it to citizens to pay as little as they can get away with on their tax returns next April—drew council ire. "But if this is a legal tax, people are obligated to pay it," Garelik declared.

If the leadership gets council approval for higher withholding, it may be able to drop several of the proposed "nuisance" taxes—on beer, liquor, movie admissions, high-nicotine cigarettes, non-reusable containers and leaded gasolines.

Two Are Guilty Of Conspiracy

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — scheduled a July 6 sentencing date. He will hear motions in the case at 10 a.m. Monday.

After four hours deliberation, a Federal Court jury found two Erie County lawmakers guilty Wednesday of conspiracy but innocent of bribery charges in connection with the county's proposed domed stadium.

Democratic legislators Frank C. Ludera, 37, and Frederick F. Pordum, 34, had been accused of soliciting $32,000 in exchange for their votes in favor of the $50 million sports project. The indictments were handed up Jan. 29 by one of two grand juries investigating stadium matters.

The seven-man, five-woman jury found both men guilty on the first count of conspiring with J. Lloyd Walker, stadium project engineer, and other unnamed persons to carry on unlawful activity in interstate commerce.

But both men were found innocent on three other counts, each of which charged them with actually causing interstate travel for promotion of bribery.

Convict on Thefts — Loot, Not Espionage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top closely connected to the crime syndicate to stay away from an Air Force base. Another John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York because Army security agents were "very interested in the thefts."

Kudak was asked how a fence could know what military agents were doing and responded: "He told me he had had a lodge brother who was an FBI Central Intelligence Agency agent."

Kudak said one pouch of mail stolen at Jacksonville, Fla., airport was filled only with classified documents intended for

The object of his more than 175 thefts, the federal convict said, was not espionage but the millions of dollars in securities, diamonds, travelers' checks, furs and cash carried in U.S. registered mail. He said he sold his loot at a fraction of its true value to fences controlled directly by the crime syndicate in New York and New Jersey.

Surrounded by armed U.S. marshals and granted immunity from prosecution, Kudak testified Wednesday before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman, said he fears the statements implicating a dozen or more men in enormous thefts will endanger Kudak's life.

Kudak said he once was warned by a diamond fence

Summer Job Project for Students

UCCC, Action Committee Link

STONE RIDGE
Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of Ulster County Community College and Louis Grimaldi, director of Ulster County Community Action Program announced today the undertaking of a pioneering joint venture which would enable students to spend the summer working on community projects throughout Ulster County.

Both Dr. Erbstein and Grimaldi expressed their hope that the public would give financial support to the program, which would be the first of its kind to provide summer employment and academic credit to a group of college students and would also meet critical needs of the disadvantaged.

"We all know that summer employment opportunities for young people are limited," Dr. Erbstein said. "This venture will give 12 to 15 students a chance to earn a small stipend and gain academic credit for working this summer helping shut-ins, senior citizens, dependent children, migrants and other disadvantaged people. I believe this project merits the broadest possible public support."

Students in the project would be assigned to undertake such responsibilities serving as recreation counselors for disadvantaged children, assisting senior citizens in many of their special concerns, providing transportation for shut-ins, baby-sitting for welfare clients, taking part in cleanup campaigns, serving as drug counselors, and running an employment agency for young people.

They would work closely with UCCC faculty mentors and Ulster County CAP outreach staff.

Students participating for academic credit would be required to keep journals to record and analyze their experiences. They would also meet bi-weekly with their faculty mentors and CAP staff members, to discuss how adequately community needs are being met and to develop new means of meeting those needs.

A final report on each student's summer activities would also be required.

Further information about this project is available by calling or writing the Dean of Faculty at UCCC, Stone Ridge.

LEWIS C. KIRSCHNER

LOUIS M. KLEIN

Nods to Kirschner, Klein

Incumbent County Legislator Lewis C. Kirschner and Kingston Attorney Louis M. Klein have received the Democratic and Conservative nomination to seek election next November to the Ulster County Legislature as representatives of Dist. 7 (Rosendale and Esopus).

The Democratic Committee made its selection last Friday in caucus and the Conservatives met Tuesday night and gave their endorsement.

Kirschner, owner of Lew's Delicatessen in Port Ewen, is a resident of 191 Rogers Street, Port Ewen. He is a member of the Town of Esopus Businessmen's Association, Town of Esopus Democratic Club, town director, Esopus Lions Club; deputy district governor, Lions International; director of Town of Esopus Little League and a member of the Children's Rehabilitation Center.

He also is president of the Ulster County Supervisors and Legislators Association; a member of Temple Emanuel, Jewish Community Council; a member of the Muscular Dystrophy Association and B'nai B'rith.

As a member of the Legislature, he serves on the following committees: Commissioner of Elections, Conservation, Coroner and Sealer, Judicial and Legal and Recreation and Youth.

Klein, actively engaged in the practice of law since 1967, is a member of the firm of Ewig, Klein and Klein and was designated by the Democrats as a candidate recently.

He is town attorney from the Town of Esopus, having been appointed to the post in January of 1960 after making an unsuccessful bid for town justice the previous November.

A graduate of Brooklyn Law School, he worked for the New York City Department of Probation while at school.

He has served as treasurer of the Ulster County Red Cross and is a member of Lions Club. He resides at 251 Lee Road, Port Ewen with his wife, Sheila and two sons.

Papers Fined

SAIGON (UPI) — A South Vietnamese municipal court has levied fines against six newspapers for alleged violations of the federal newspaper code. It suspended sentences against four other publications for lack of evidence.

The court held that the offending dailies were in violation of the code which permits confiscation of individual editions of newspapers deemed against the public interest.

Milan Councilman Hits Apport Plan

TOWN OF MILAN
Town of Milan Councilman Richard Laibach has said that "Milan has been wiped off the map" in the new reapportionment Plan adopted by the Dutchess County Board of Representatives.

"It was only two months ago that a legislator was quoted as joking that wiping Milan off the map would make it easier to reapportion the county," said

Laibach. "This is in effect what happened when the so-called Plan Six was adopted." He continued, "Milan and other small towns will lose all effective and meaningful representation."

Laibach explained that Milan (population 1,322) is to be in a district that includes Pine Plains (population 1,792), Red Hook (population 7,548) and Rhinebeck (population 5,638) and that the district is to have three elected representatives. Noting that there are now three incumbent representatives in the new district, all Republican and none from Milan, Laibach said that the "chances of a representative coming from Milan, Republican or Democrat, are extremely slight, yet it is possible for a larger town to elect all three members from its own town."

Laibach added that he thought the new district was "too large and diverse" stating that he would have favored a plan that would have allowed smaller districts with single elected representatives.

"The needs of Milan are certainly not always those of Red Hook and Rhinebeck, with their higher density and villages within their boundaries," he added.

College-on-the-Green

The ever-questing American search for a wide-open door to higher education has led to a new American solution: the mini-college. Like many American educational solutions, it has the pragmatic charm of being flexible and serving different students in different ways.

That would certainly seem to be the case with the College-on-the-Green, opening this week in Woodstock's St. Gregory's Episcopal Church. For some adult students who have no scholarly ambitions but would like the basic benefits of general education subjects provided by prestigious professors from traditional colleges, the Woodstock endeavor offers a program rare indeed for Ulster County. Whether a sheepskin is involved or not, this miniature college—open to all—offers a unique opportunity to live at home, while getting the full academic benefit of college courses in literature, censorship, psychology, politics and philosophy.

There is the further advantage of easy admission to this small but high-quality campus, and the fact that it involves none of the high cost of "going away to college."

Here, then, is up-to-date learning on a par never before offered in Ulster County. We salute the dedication of those who have made the College-on-the-Green possible this summer; encourage the public to take full advantage of the scholarly lectures and workshops offered by registering for one or another of the courses offered by calling St. Gregory's Church today. The educators involved will make little or no money on the venture, but the profits to the public will be great indeed.

Trade Allies Fail U.S.

America's 22 major trading partners are not willing to recognize the costs of the role the United States plays today in the security of the free world, and to do something about it. This became clear after the meeting of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development in Paris, chaired by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Perhaps it was too much to expect OECD to share the burden of America's worldwide responsibilities, since it includes Switzerland, Austria and Sweden, who refuse any endorsement of the United States defense role because of their neutral status.

But the others are allies as well as trade partners, and more was expected of them. The best that Rogers was able to get was authority for a small high level study group to investigate the possibility of further international trade negotiations, a miserly compromise in view of America's enormous commitments.

The foreign view was that U.S. chronic and growing payments deficits were part of the price for the U.S. overseas military presence, that the problem was monetary not trade, and that the United States should put its monetary house in order before turning to its allies for trade concessions.

Such a position by our closest allies and trade partners will stir members of Congress, especially Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, to press again for cutting American forces abroad, especially in Europe; and will stir trade protectionist sentiment among others. Europe has had a 25-year-long free ride and it is time she did more for her own defense.

Marine Corps Call

While Congress wrangled over a two-year extension of Selective Service and while the nation continues to debate the pros and cons of an all-volunteer military force, the U.S. Marine Corps has returned to recruiting without the help of the draft.

A new recruiting theme designed to reach the "elite" of American youth is about to be launched by the corps, which has always prided itself on being a rather elite service.

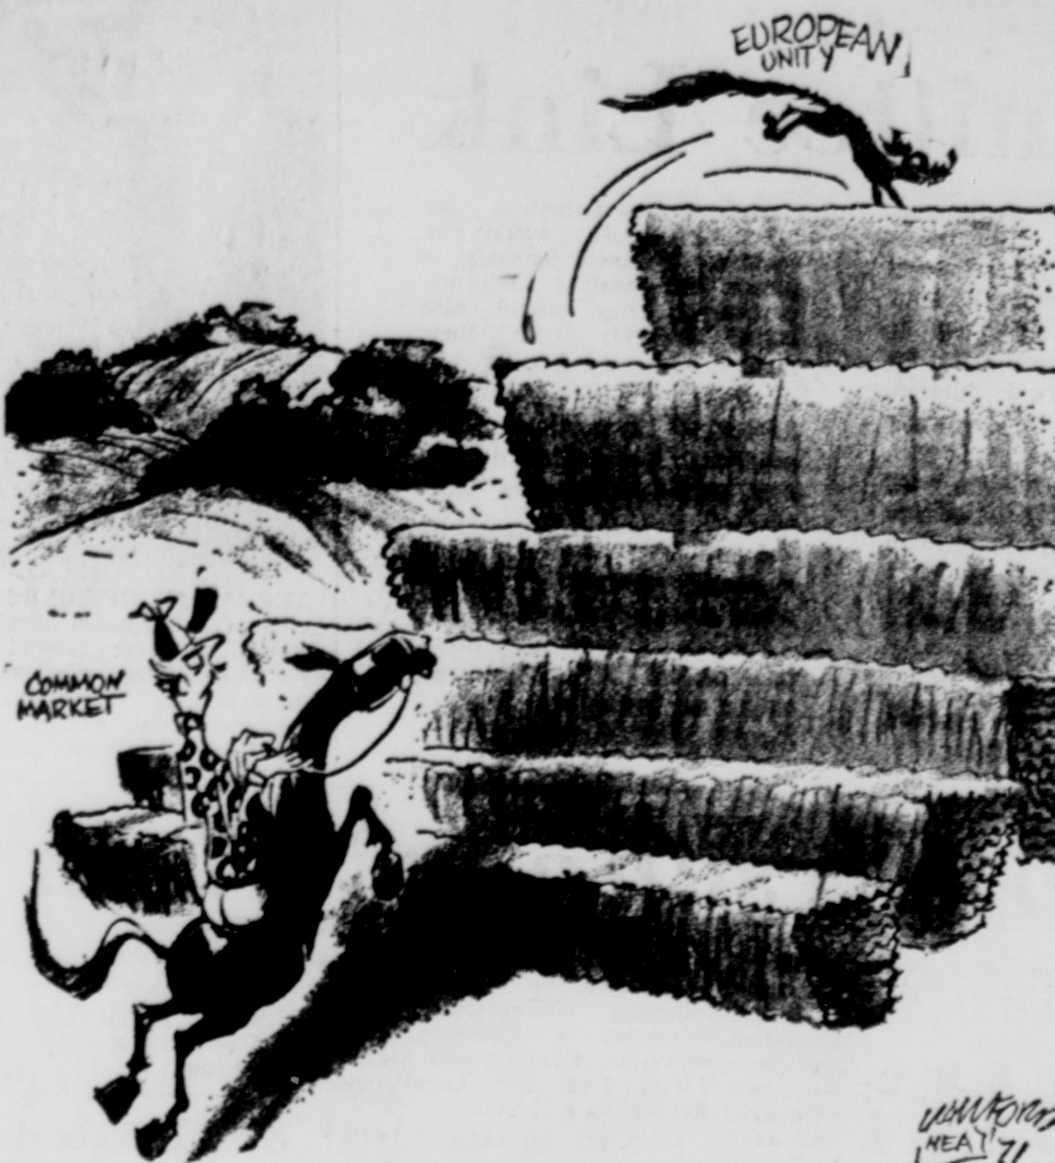

The Marine Corps definitely does not want "to join you."

Slogans such as "If everybody could be a Marine, we wouldn't be the Marines" or "We don't promise you a rose garden" or "Men wanted. Long hours. Hard work. Satisfaction guaranteed" will emphasize the selectivity and rigorous training of the Marine Corps.

"We're continuing to train Marines the way we've always trained them," says Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., commandant. "No compromises, no shortcuts, no promises except one—they'll be Marines, and all that title bestows."

The corps needs 2,000 officer candidates and 54,000 recruits annually to maintain an authorized strength of 206,000, just enough to man three divisions, three aircraft wings and all supporting units.

The Southern Baptist Convention, the nation's largest Protestant church, refused to adopt an anti-war resolution at its convention in St. Louis. "When a man lays down his life for another, this is not moral ambiguity," said one clergyman amid cries of "Amen." And an Army chaplain said, "If we do not pull out with a just settlement we will be party to bloodletting." The convention agreed that soldiers who laid down their lives are peacemakers.

Tally-Ho!

David Lawrence Says 1964 Vietnam Disclosures Not Adequate Presentation

WASHINGTON — The unauthorized disclosure of a top-secret report on the Vietnam War made during the Johnson administration and just printed in the press gives the impression that the plans for bombing North Vietnam were somehow related to a form of political expediency.

Discussions as to strategy undoubtedly were held from day to day during the last administration, and these had a bearing on just when an active air war was begun against North Vietnam. The documents, which have been somehow leaked, show that there were disagreements, as was natural with such complicated questions.

From the spring of 1964 to the time when the Gulf of Tonkin resolution was adopted by Congress in August 1964 and the start of the concentrated bombing of North Vietnam in 1965, air strikes were considered and debated by the Johnson administration. These naturally were kept a secret.

But the lengthy documents, which have gotten into the hands of the press, are not an adequate presentation of all the facts. They could not possibly tell of the details of discussions between the President and the Department of State or between the latter department and its representatives abroad. Nor could they cover the reports of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The Chief Executive has available information from a variety of sources, and he is given memoranda from many different categories of advisers. He makes decisions after he has read a number of reports — not merely studies developed by military advisers who offer recommendations as to what might be done to carry the war to a successful conclusion.

For the United States has not just been fighting a war against the North Vietnamese. It has been fighting also against the military help supplied by the Soviet Union and by Red China. Thus, for instance, on Monday of this week, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said that the Russians have just delivered "highly sophisticated weapons systems" to Egypt and that they furnished 1.65 billion dollars of military aid to Egypt from 1967 to 1970 and approximately half that amount during 1970.

It is not known exactly how much the Russians have supplied to North Vietnam, but some figures have been published which indicate that they have sent at least a billion dollars' worth of ammunition and weapons to the Hanoi government in the last two years. Military advisers and technicians have also been dispatched to North Vietnam.

When the United States is, in effect, confronted by the two big Communist nations, the strategy that is followed in a war such as developed in Indo-China must be carefully examined in the light of what might happen throughout the world. If measures had not been taken to convince the government of North Vietnam and its allies that the United States would not virtually surrender, other governments might have lost faith in the ability of America to fulfill its commitments.

This was the issue in 1964, and it is still the issue today. The Johnson administration, of course, did not wish to engage in the bombing of North Vietnam and naturally spent a good deal of time discussing the effects of such a move. The documents which have recently leaked out merely report on the various suggestions that were being made as to alternative courses of action. They hardly deserve the attention they are getting. For President Johnson did carry on a bombing campaign, and later halted it in the hope of getting peace negotiations started.

But the war has not been ended. The Nixon administration faces similar difficulties and is challenged by some of the same factors — namely, the future of South Vietnam and the effect that a Communist takeover of Indo-China would have in other parts of Asia and elsewhere.

One wonders what purpose is served by spreading old reports taken from documents written from early 1964 to February 1965 while the bombing of North Vietnam was being planned. Their publication now merely tends to emphasize the alleged inability of the American government to deal with the complex problems in Southeast Asia.

The focus should be on what the Soviet Union and Red China have been doing to help the North Vietnamese to combat the efforts of the United States to secure for the people of South Vietnam the benefits of the right of self-determination.

Cuba's Fidel Castro Isn't Reds' 'Messiah' After All

By LEON DENNEN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA) — Cuba's Fidel Castro is fast becoming an "anti-hero" to leftists in the United States, Latin America and Europe.

Despite his tough revolutionary posture, his image as a Marxist-Leninist leader has been badly tarnished.

Even the Nixon administration's Castro ideology as a serious threat in Latin America. The "experiment" with a Marxist-Leninist government undertaken more recently in Chile by President Salvador Allende is causing far greater concern in Washington.

Radical extremists who once regarded Cuba as the promised land of socialism are increasingly rejecting Havana's former editor of Havana's daily newspaper "Revolucion," told this writer a decade ago that "Castroism is the wave of the future" in Latin America.

Franklin was Castro's closest friend. Now he is an exile in Paris conspiring to overthrow the Cuban regime. Frank just issued a statement also signed by 60 European and American leftist intellectuals — that strongly condemns Castro's brutal dictatorship and his "contempt for human dignity."

Another one-time ardent supporter of the "Cuban revolution," French journalist K. S. Karol, was even more bitter.

Karol had made a pilgrimage to Cuba in search of a revolutionary utopia. He found instead a land of chaos and terror. In his book, "Guerrillas in Power," Karol suggested sugar and less with exporting his "romantic" revolutionary ideology.

Havana's dictator was quick to retaliate in the usual manner. He castigated his erstwhile supporter as an agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. Karol's Cuban friend, poet Huberto Padilla, was arrested and kept in jail until he "confessed" that he was indeed a CIA agent in addition to being "ignoble, unjust, cowardly and treacherous."

The leftists intellectuals were "shocked" by Castro's methods of forcing a man into "ludicrously accusing himself of the worst treason and indignities."

They had been silent when the dictator jailed and tortured thousands of innocent Cubans, including the heroic, Huber Matos, Havana's noblest democratic leader. But Padilla's "confession" obviously evoked grim memories of Stalin's terror, which spared neither foe nor friend. Young Latin-American leftists are also disillusioned by the increasing tendency of Havana to act as Moscow's puppet. The majority, like their counterparts in the United States, are adherents of Mao Tse Tung. They despise Soviet "revisionism" as much as they hate capitalist America.

Castro knows this but there is little that he can do to appease the New Left. For he also knows that his dictatorship remains economically viable only because of heavy Russian subsidies.

In 1968, Havana's dictator still dared to denounce Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia as a "flagrant violation" of the sovereignty of a Communist nation. "Cuba stands alone," he exulted at the time.

There is no longer true today. The Russian presence — both military and economic — is increasingly evident in Havana, and the power of the pro-Moscow Communists is growing proportionately.

They may even decide one day — as their Russian masters decided recently in Egypt — that "romantic" revolutionists like Fidel Castro have outlived their usefulness. The Kremlin regards orthodox Marxist-Leninists like Chile's Allende as more reliable agents and allies.

Jack Anderson Says United States Prepared to Halt All Ground Combat in Indochina

WASHINGTON — The U.S. is prepared to end its ground-combat operations in Indochina immediately. The high command is convinced, however, that Hanoi won't let American troops stop fighting. Offensive operations already have been halted everywhere except in the troublesome northern sector of South Vietnam, and no new offensives are planned.

The American and 101st Airborne Divisions are still engaged in limited offensive combat. The First Regiment of the Fifth Mechanized Division is also keeping watch on the Demilitarized Zone. But elsewhere in the country, combat troops have been largely pulled back into defensive units.

So far as President Nixon is concerned, he would like to restrict the remaining troops in Vietnam to defending U.S. installations. He is planning to emphasize this later in the year by referring to the infantry units in Vietnam, thereafter, as security forces.

But the North Vietnamese are expected to keep up the military pressure upon the Americans as long as they remain in Vietnam. Captured enemy documents indicate Hanoi is planning a massive offensive next fall.

Footnote: Present plans call for continuing the U.S. withdrawal at the present rate until the total strength is down to 50,000 security troops.

Intelligence Digest

THIEU'S BRIBERY? — The American Embassy in Saigon has forwarded reports to Washington that President Thieu bribed members of the National Assembly to pass an election-law amendment. The charge will make it more difficult for rivals to run against Thieu. The embassy picked up allegations that Thieu paid as high as $2,500 a vote.

CHINESE QUANDARY — The best intelligence estimate is that Red China would like to restore normal relations with the U.S. in order to counter the Soviet military build-up on the Chinese border. But Peking's table-tennis diplomacy with the U.S. has upset its hard-line camp followers around the world. The most militant communists look to Peking for leadership. There was a backfire, therefore, when Peking appeared to be adopting a softer line toward the U.S.

UNITED GUERRILLAS — Arab guerrilla leaders have been holding secret negotiations to unite all rival guerrilla groups into one underground organization that would operate inside Israeli-occupied territory. There are intelligence reports that the Soviets have offered more arms to the guerrillas if they can get together.

DRUGS AND BRIBES — We have reported that drug smuggling is abetted in Laos, South Vietnam and Thailand by corruption in high places. Competent sources have now told us of similar corruption in other lands. There is evidence that a member of the Iranian royal family, a former high Mexican official and one of Lebanon's most prominent ex-legislators are all deeply involved in the international narcotics traffic.

Washington Whirl

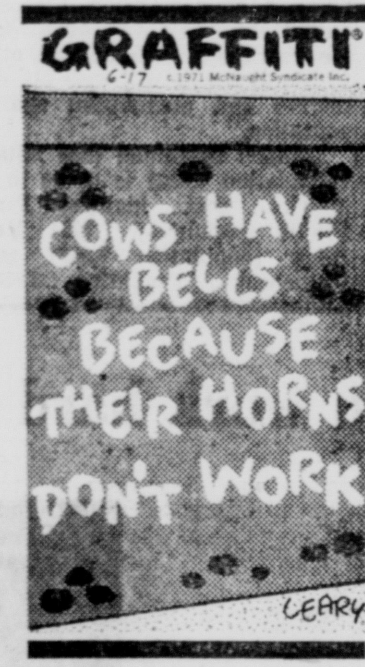

STRANGE PROPOSAL — A group of New York State legislators met secretly with Turkish Ambassador Melih Esemel the other day to negotiate a drug treaty of their own. The New Yorkers, joined by Rep. Jim Scheuer, D.N.Y., made this desperate proposal: would Turkey be willing to negotiate with a nonprofit New York corporation that would pay Turkish farmers not to grow opium, whose heroin derivative is plaguing New York City and other metropolises? Ambassador Esemel looked uncomfortable and inquired whether it might not be more diplomatic for the State Department to do the negotiating. Snapped state Sen. John Hughes, the delegation leader: "We are tired of talking with the State Department. They're not doing anything, while our cities are being destroyed by dope." Scheuer helped to persuade his fellow New Yorkers, however, that states are forbidden by law to negotiate agreements with foreign governments.

POLITICIANS' POLITICIAN — Wilbur Mills, the powerful House Ways and Means chairman, is regarded in Washington as the politicians' politician. He is considered formidable in the backrooms, but he lacks the popular support to win the Democratic presidential nomination. Nevertheless, Mills is going ahead with his presidential plans, with the quiet encouragement of key southern politicians. Such southern governors as Arkansas's Dale Bumpers, Georgia's Jimmy Carter and South Carolina's John West have offered to support Mills. Their strategy is not intended to nominate Mills so much as to improve their bargaining position with the other candidates at next year's Democratic convention. Mills will be able to deliver a large southern bloc to the candidate who will offer the most concessions to the South.

REVERSE SEX-EXPLOITATION — Male workers are grumbling about reverse "sexploitation" under the new federal occupational safety act. Certain employers must provide rooms for female workers to rest on the job. No such facilities, however, are required for men. This appears to violate the 1964, civil rights law guaranteeing no discrimination because of sex.

BROGER'S BANQUET — One of Washington's annual hypocrites is the Thomas Jefferson Awards Banquet, a Pentagon promotion staged by its information czar, John Broger. Jefferson, a champion of press freedom, would turn in the his grave. For Broger has censored the news and promoted Pentagon policies outrageously in military publications and broadcasts. While GIs in Vietnam are munching on field rations, Broger and his guests dined on Chateau Leoville-Las Cases, St. Julien wine, vichyssoise, New York sirloin of prime beef, potatoes chennille, tomato farcie, asparagus polonaise, bibb lettuce with hearts of palm, warm brie with almonds, soufflé beignets with raspberry sauce, coffee and liqueurs.

Behind the Kremlin Facade

Moscow Loses Face in Asia

by RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Careful studies here of the recent 24th congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union dramatically illustrate the erosion of Moscow's influence among Asian nations.

The analyses by government specialists are now under top-level administration scrutiny. It is hoped they will provide guidance for President Nixon's effort to take advantage of splits in the world's Communist parties in order to prevent the formation of enemy power blocs which could endanger U.S. security.

Historically, national Communist parties have flocked to the Soviet party congresses, taking pride in being part of an international movement led by the Soviet Union.

It is no secret that with the defection of Yugoslavia, the Peking-Moscow rivalry and with Russia's sell-out of some parties in Africa, the preeminence of the Soviet Union has been seriously challenged for some time.

But never before has the extent of the decline in Russian influence over local Asian parties showed so deeply as in this 24th congress.

All the facts are not yet in, but it seems that of all the Asian parties officially attending, only the Mongolian delegation could be regarded by Moscow as safely pro-Soviet. And Mongolia is militarily a puppet state.

The Australian, Japanese and North Korean Communist parties were represented but on their own prickly independent terms.

The Nepalese and Burmese parties reportedly declined Moscow's invitation. The Malaysian, Thai, Cambodian and New Zealand parties probably did not attend.

There is considerable doubt as to whether the Afghan and Indonesian Communist parties sent official delegations.

Congressman Fish Hits Sugar Quota System

WASHINGTON — The placing of a $55,000 limit on payments should be imposed on domestic sugar producers just is it on wheat and feed grain producers, according to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., who said this week that the nation's present sugar quota system is costing the American taxpayer $700 million annually in hidden charges and should be abandoned.

Calling it a "sweet piece of business"—a sugar plum financed in hidden charges from the purses of the American housewife, Congressman Fish explained that the sugar quota system goes back to 1934 and "will not be an easy thing to do—especially considering the profits involved in the maintenance of the system."

Fish agrees with Rep. Paul Findley (R-Ill.) a member of the House Agricultural Committee which allocates the sugar quotas between the various countries, that the Sugar Quota Act of 1971, passed by the House last week is "the worst outrage on the American taxpayer and consumer, being perpetrated by the federal government."

Fish said that "as an American consumer pays just about twice the price for a pound of sugar in this country the sugar will bring on the open world market, the possession of a sugar quota by a nation is an extremely valuable item."

"Considering the profits involved in these quotas, perhaps the amount paid by sugar producing countries for influential Washington lobbyists is rather cheap—even if one firm does receive a reported $180,000 a year annual fee including expenses for representing the Brazilian Sugar and Alcohol Institute before the House Agricultural Committee."

Fish said that "competition between countries for these coveted quotas has become so keen at times, that in 1965, the last time the act was extended, the House Agriculture Committee won the reputation of being the 'little State Department.'"

The congressman said that Rep. Findley has adopted the position that these sugar quotas should be abandoned, with sugar imports put on a straight tariff basis with sugar producing countries competing in the American market on a first come, first served basis.

Fish said he also endorses Findley's position that the $55,000 limit on payments be imposed on domestic sugar producers.

"For, unfortunately, at the present time as is only too often the case, the American consumer and taxpayer is the only one involved in this world sugar scramble to come out on the short end of the sweet, sugar-coated stick—the taxpayer and the countries not fortunate enough to win a quota from the Agriculture Committee."

"This is the problem with a number of our quota formulas, such as the present oil quotas which reportedly cost the American gasoline purchaser a five cent a gallon premium to keep the large oil interests in flourishing financial condition."

"The oil import quotas perhaps can be excused on the basis of the need to maintain a healthy and thriving domestic production for defense purposes. But even this argument does not hold for the sugar bonanza."

"What is obviously needed here is to allow a freer flow of sugar to permit the American purchaser to pay a price nearer the world market level. For this I would favor a gradual phase out of all sugar supports and a straight tariff on sugar imports, just as I favor a gradual phase out of all farm support programs."

"For a time this year it seemed this might be possible, when the White House indicated they did not want any sugar act this year. Unfortunately, they later indicated a short extension would be acceptable."

SUPER GIANT STEP — The Catskill Region TB and RD Association has been cited for outstanding achievement and awarded a Super Giant Step award for performance in the 1970 Christmas Seal campaign from the state Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. On hand for award presentation were (L) E. Robert Johnson, executive director; Miss Hanora McDonald, assistant executive director and John M. Robbins, president.

Area TB Chapter Cited for Achievement

KINGSTON — The Catskill Region TB and RD Association was cited for outstanding achievement and received a "Super Giant Step" Award for performance in the 1970 Christmas Seal Campaign from the New York State Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, according to the recent announcement of Miss Rose Marie Feeney of Kingston, Dr. Harry Golembe, Liberty, and Dr. Barbara Vosburgh, Co-Chairmen for the Ulster, Sullivan and Greene Areas.

In the commendation received by the Catskill Region, the State Association extended "Congratulations and our thanks—for taking a Super Giant Step in the 1970 Christmas Seal Campaign with the highest percent increase (15.2 per cent) and the highest per capita raise (3.34) in New York State." The total Catskill Region Christmas Seal figure is $63,742.22. Miss Feeney and Drs. Vosburgh and Golembe expressed their great appreciation for the generous support and interest received from area contributors to the 1970 Christmas Seal Campaign. These voluntary funds donated make possible the year-round program of the Regional Association carried on through community and patient services, public and professional education and research directed toward the eradication of tuberculosis, the control of other respiratory diseases and such related health concerns as smoking and pollution.

Headquarters for the Catskill Region TB and RD Association is located at 124 Green Street.

Renaissance Slates June 26 Open House

ELLENVILLE — The Renaissance Project, Inc. will hold an open house at its live-in facilities on Ulster Heights Road in Ellenville Saturday, June 26, from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.

The open house, which will be held each Saturday night beginning next week, will feature discussions and seminars with the residents of the facility on narcotics abuse and methods for its treatment and prevention. Programs now in effect at Renaissance will also be explained.

There are now 72 residents at the Ellenville facility, which is described as a self-help therapy center for former heroin addicts who are preparing to re-enter society. Most of the residents are from Westchester County, where the main offices of Renaissance are located.

Renaissance is funded by New York State and private contributions. Its residents usually remain there for 12-15 months before moving to a "phase-out" house in Tarrytown before embarking on their own.

Residential treatment centers, such as Renaissance and Daytop, have proven to be the most successful in curing former addicts. Sixty-five per cent of the persons who have been placed in the Renaissance Project, and who graduated successfully, have stayed off drugs since re-entering society.

'Best Year' Expected At Camp Tri-Mount

KINGSTON — Camp Tri-Mount, the camp of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, is expected to have its best year ever, according to Charles F. Carr, Scout Executive.

He also said that the camp is booked up for the six weeks from July 4 to Aug. 15 with more than 1,000 Boy Scouts and leaders expected to attend.

Several changes in operation have been made with the camper and his leader in mind to facilitate and increase the enjoyment of both during their stay in the camp. The primary change is the addition of two camp commissioners and six commissioners' aides (one for each campsite). These aides will be assigned to a troop while they are in camp and work closely with them to assure that they get the most out of their time and program opportunities, Carr said.

The commissioners will be David Battini of Durham and Roland Ellis of New Paltz. The commissioner's aides are Randy Geuss, Kingston; Jim Redder, Saugerties; Peter Schiffer, Hurley; Eugene Loughlin, Esopus; and Mike Metzler and Bruce Barris, Catskill.

The Aquatics area will be headed by John Mulkins; Fayetteville with Charles Metzler, Catskill, as assistant and Ken Payne Jr., Coxsackie, as instructor.

The field sports area including rifle, shotgun, and archery will be directed by Barry Hopkins, Catskill. Assistant is Dave Scott, Kingston with Allen Uhler, Catskill and Tom Casey Jr., Kingston as counselors.

The crafts areas will be in charge of Ronald Latz Jr., Port Jervis, Nature; Ronald Doyne, High Falls, Scoutcraft; Robert Werlau, Esopus, in Woodcraft and Daniel Holly, Stone Ridge, Handicraft.

The camp kitchen will be supervised by Jim Garland, Schenectady who is head chef at Siena College. His assistant will be Miss Louise White, Schenectady, with Brad Burchell, New Paltz, steward.

Counselors in training are Amos Lucas, Esopus; Scott Porter, Edward, Kuhlneel and John Kinnear, Kingston; and Kevin Sulkey and Roland Bernal, Catskill.

This year's provisional scoutmaster is Jonathan Pauker, Kingston who has several years of camp counseling. Camp clerk is Victor Patience, Kingston; camp trading post director is Paul Bartov, New Paltz and camp chaplain is the Rev. George Wood, Saugerties. Program director will be Thomas Maggs, Catskill and the camp director is Alan Ford, New Paltz.

Stepping Up Eagle Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department's top wild life and game investigator says a probe into the poisoning deaths of Bald and Golden Eagles in Wyoming has turned up evidence ranch heads have been shooting at the high-flying birds from aircraft.

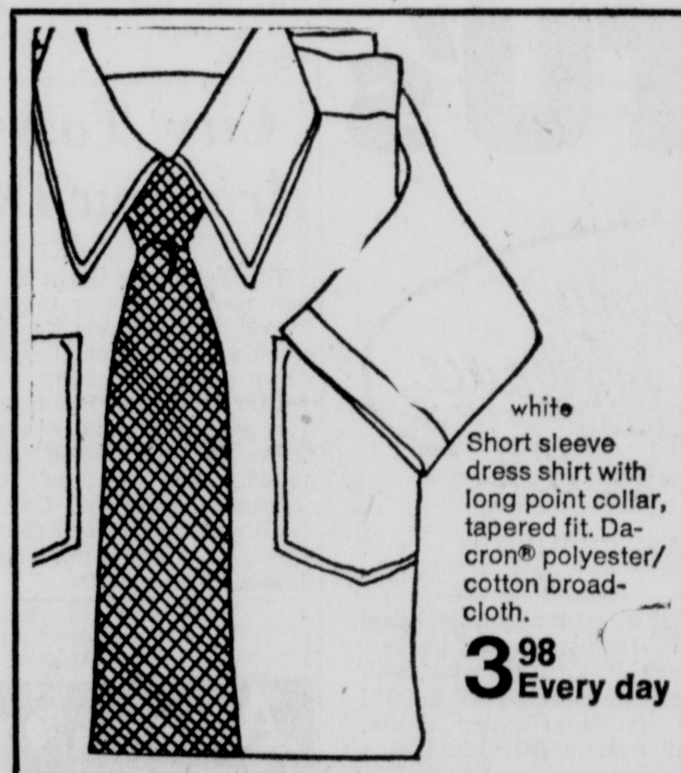

Charles H. Lawrence, chief of the department's Division of Management and Enforcement, said the government will step up its investigation or persons who kill eagles as part of their predator control programs.

Lawrence disclosed the new investigation Wednesday after stating the federal government will not prosecute persons responsible for poisoning eagles on the ground because "we couldn't locate anyone who deliberately set out to kill eagles." The poison was intended for coyotes, he said.

However, he added "I think state charges may be filed" in the poisoning incidents. All information obtained by federal investigators has been turned over to local authorities, he said.

KINGSTON city's matching fund share would in all likelihood be beyond its financial means.

The program is covered under the "special revenues" section of Nixon's proposal, with some $2.1 billion earmarked.

Walpole Leaves Ellenville UR On July 6

ELLENVILLE Ellenville Urban Renewal Director Frank Walpole, who first asked to be "phased out" by Aug. 1, has pushed up the date. He has informed the Ellenville Urban Renewal Agency that he will be leaving as of July 6.

Walpole has cited "pressing personal business" matters as the reason for the move.

His letter of resignation said, "The decision has truly been a difficult one to make, for it has been an honor to serve the agency and the village."

He has offered to assist in an advisory capacity "to the extent my other responsibilities will permit."

Walpole told The Freeman his successor has not yet been selected.

Memorial
In memory of Sheldon M. Block, died June 17, 1968.

How do I love thee; Let me count the ways.
I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight
For the ends of Being and Ideal Grace
I love thee to the level of every-day's
Most quiet need, by sun and candlelight.
I love thee freely, as men strive for Right;
I love thee purely, as they turn from Praise.
I love thee with the passion put to use
In my old griefs, and with my childhood's faith.
I love thee with a love I seem to lose
With my lost saints—I love thee with the breath
Smiles, tears, of all my life!— and, if God choose,
I shall but love thee better after death.

Theft Charged To Nutmeg Pair

TOWN OF POUGHKEEPSIE
A New Windsor, Conn. couple was arrested Wednesday and charged with the earlier theft that day of $265 in cash and checks from the Bridal Showcase on Route 9, Town of Poughkeepsie Police reported.

George Thomas Rowley, 25, and his 21-year-old wife, Paula Jean, were committed to the Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $500 bail each pending a court appearance before Town of Poughkeepsie Justice Joseph Weizer on Wednesday. Both entered innocent pleas to a charge of third degree grand larceny.

The burglary was reported early Wednesday morning.

SPCA Managers Are Fired

TOWN OF ULSTER
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walter, managers of the SPCA animal shelter on Brabant Road, were fired today by order of Mrs. Katherine Stoutenburg, president of the SPCA.

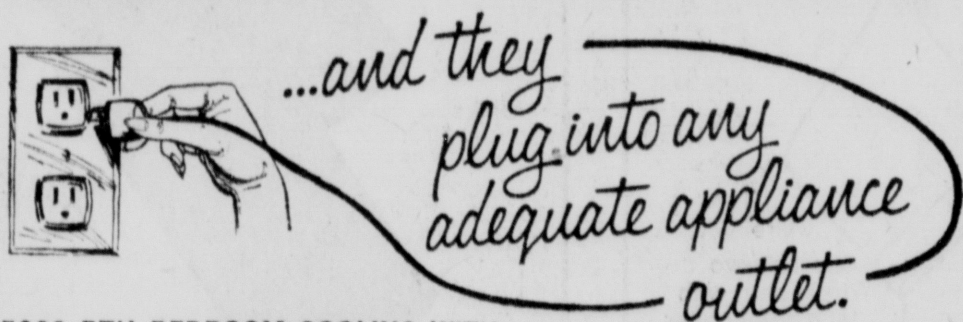

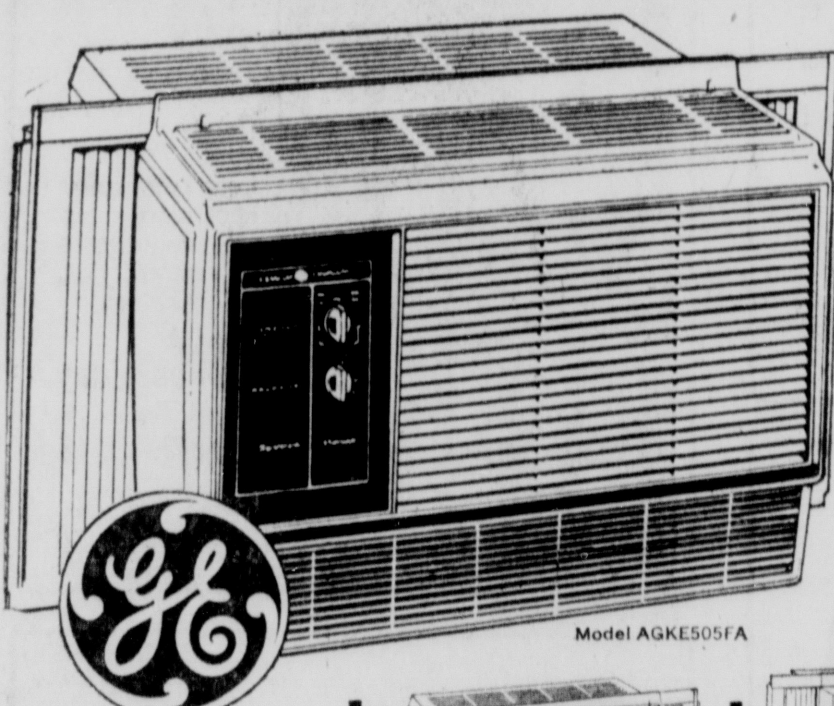

The Walters also were ordered to vacate the apartments they resided in at the animal shelter. Mrs. Walter told The Daily Freeman.

Synagogue News

Agudas Achim

Shabbat services at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, will be conducted as follows: Mincha and Kabbalat Shabbat at 7 p.m. Shabbat services at 8:30 a.m. and 8:35 p.m. Rabbi Howard Gershon and Cantor Herman Slomovits will officiate. Light Shabbat candles no later than 8:19 p.m. Services are conducted daily at 7 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Anyone wishing to become a member of Congregation Agudas Achim may contact Jack Sheinvald, Mrs. Robert Selinger or Rabbi Howard Gershon.

Ahavath Israel

Religious Services at Congregation Ahavath Israel, at 100 Lucas Avenue, will be continued during the summer months on regular schedule. Services will be held every Friday 8 p.m. and every Saturday 9:30 a.m. An Oneg Shabbat will follow the Friday services and a Kiddush after the Saturday morning services. Rabbi Harry Z. Schechterman will conduct the services and deliver his weekly sermon, assisted in the liturgy by Cantor David Katchen.

This Friday evening the Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following whose yahrtzeiten will be observed during the coming week: Rebecca Alpert, Hyman Alpert, William Greenwald, Andrew Mandel, Ray Spiegel, Solomon Stein and Samuel B. Wilpan.

The Oneg Shabbat this Friday evening will be in honor of Ephraim Propp, the outgoing president of the congregation. Propp has been president of the congregation for the past eight years, and is now stepping down after congregational elections held last Sunday. All members and friends are invited to the services and the Oneg Shabbat Friday at 8 p.m. to honor Propp.

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath Evening Services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Friday beginning at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend. Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will conduct services, assisted by Dr. John Park. Rabbi Eichhorn will speak on The Future Is Up to Us.

Mrs. Renee Sachs will light the Sabbath candles. Dr. Jeremiah Sachs will lead the congregation in chanting the Kiddush. Following Services, the congregation is invited to attend the Oneg Shabbat sponsored by Dr. and Mrs. Sachs in honor of their son, Russell, who will become a Bar Mitzvah Saturday morning.

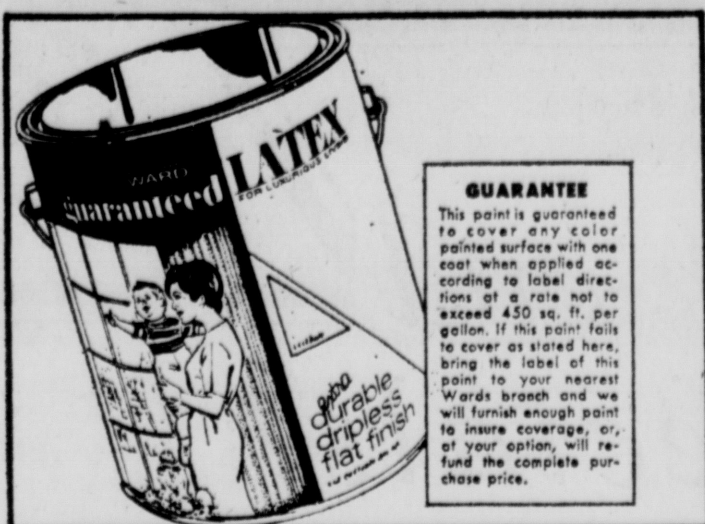

During services, the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Morris Kalish, Bertha Katz, Pauline Weisburger, Harry Feldman, Jean Goldstein, Clara Frishberg, Violet Wolff.

Man Arrested For Speeding, Other Charges

NEW PALTZ New Palitz shortly after midnight Wednesday.

The arrest was made by New Palitz patrolmen, who reported that they received a call from the proprietor of the Home-stand Bar stating that a man was creating a disturbance there. Bevier allegedly resisted attempts by police to place him under arrest and later search of his possession revealed a quantity of narcotics.

The narcotic, described as a white powdery substance by police, was sent to the state police lab in Albany for chemical tests to determine its nature.

Bevier was arraigned early today before Town of New Palitz Justice Rexford Schneider. Bail was set at $300.

Cites the Arctic Pollution Danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Coast Guard researcher says routine drilling and shipping Alaska's North Slope oil fields will pour 8,400 gallons of crude oil into the Arctic's delicate environment each day.

His estimate does not include such potential disasters as the breaking of an oil tanker. That, he said, has been speculated at a very large magnitude on a daily basis or approximately 1,000 tons per year by search and development, could pour 25,000 tons of oil into Arctic waters.

Glaser made his remarks before the 1971 conference on Prevention and Control of Oil Spills Wednesday.

By comparing oil losses from existing drilling and shipping on Cook inlet in Alaska with the possible oil pollution problem in the Arctic, Glaser said "An average Arctic," he said. "It also 'should be expected,' that eventually production will be attempted in deeper waters where drilling rigs and pipelines will be subjected to the full impact of the ice pack."

SERVICE TO CANCER — Dr. Roberto E. Benitez, vice president of Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society fastens sword of hope pin on Mrs. Richard M. Kalish in recognition of 20 years of dedicated service. Dennis L. Pitcock, chairman of the Cancer Crusades in 1969 and 1970 has just received the society's award for distinguished service. The awards were presented at the recent annual luncheon meeting of the society held at Kirkland Hotel. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Gov. Rockefeller Proclaims June 20-26 Amateur Radio Week

KINGSTON — The governor arrived in the Kingston office of Assemblyman Bell this week. In making the designation, the governor said that "Amateur radio operators—who call themselves 'Hams'—render a high public service. They assist in such diverse humanitarian endeavors as when airplane crashes in Peru; when an acutely ill child of rare blood type needs blood plasma delivered to a remote region of the Andes; when a Merchant Marine stationed on a ship delivering supplies to West Germany tries to reach his wife in the U.S. and when a father airlifting troops via helicopter to the battlefields of Vietnam hears that a new baby has arrived. Seasonally, hundreds of families convey personal Christmas greetings to fathers, sons and husbands stationed at Armed Forces bases throughout the world! Thus, Ham radio, besides being an interesting hobby is an instrument of mercy through which thousands of dedicated volunteers perform a public service in times of need. By giving unselfishly of themselves, amateur radio operators have earned the admiration and gratitude of our citizens and the governmental organization of New York State."

Veteran Trooper Retiring Friday

ALBANY — Colonel Louis C. Viehl, deputy superintendent of the New York State Police leaves his desk for retirement on Friday, June 18, 31 years after becoming a trooper. His departure will officially be effective July 15 at the expiration of vacation leave. Colonel Viehl as field commander has been in charge of both the uniform force and the Bureau of Criminal Investigation since assuming his present rank three years ago. He and Mrs. Viehl plan to move from this city to their former home at Pawling.

They have two sons, Philip, a 1970 graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, and Steven, a student at Duke University.

Born in Queens 58 years ago, Viehl attended New York City schools and served in the Marine Corps from 1934 to 1938. He joined the State Police in 1940 and served at stations in the former Troop L on Long Island until 1942, when he enlisted as a private in the Army. Assigned to the infantry, he took part in campaigns in the European Theater with the Seventh Army, attaining the rank of captain and receiving two Bronze Stars and the Silver Star.

On his return from Army service, he was assigned to Troop K at Hawthorne, rising to corporal in 1947, sergeant in 1950, lieutenant in 1956 and to inspector in 1961.

A year later, he was promoted to captain, a rank now corresponding to major, and assigned to the command Troop G at Loudenville. He was transferred in 1963 to Division Headquarters.

Solid Waste Problem for All Communities

ALBANY — Solid waste and what to do with it is a problem being faced by municipal officials in almost every community in our "throw away" society.

No matter how solid wastes are treated, there remains a portion which must be finally disposed of at a sanitary landfill where wastes are deposited, compacted and covered with earth each day.

A new technical booklet, "Sanitary Landfill," has just been published by the Department of Environmental Conservation to explain this method of solid waste disposal.

The booklet, prepared by the Department's Bureau of Solid Waste Engineering, is designed to provide guidance to city, village, town and county officials, landfill operators and others interested in solid waste problems.

"Sanitary Landfill" explores the steps in planning a landfill, converting a dump to a landfill, landfill operations, recommended and required practices, costs, equipment needed and use of a completed landfill.

The booklet contains a number of illustrations showing how a landfill should be operated. The appendix contains data on regulations and laws related to communities for planning a landfill operation.

Copies of the booklet are available at the Department's regional offices or by writing to the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, 50 Wolf Road, Albany 12201.

Aviation Industry Faces Many Problems in Decade

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — America's aviation industry faces a decade of growth, with passenger traffic expected to triple by 1981. To meet the challenge it must solve many problems, from noise and pollution to safety and air congestion.

For three days, many of the nation's leading aviation experts have been discussing the future of U.S. air transportation at a meeting here sponsored by the Federal Aviation Administration and the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

Most forecast that air traffic, slowed by an economic recession, will begin to pick up late this year and that the annual growth rate of domestic air transportation should return in a year or two to a normal 11-13 per cent. This is based on an anticipated upturn in the economy. The aviation officials predict that more than 450 million passengers will be carried by U.S. domestic and U.S. international carriers in 1981, compared with 160 million in 1970. The number of commercial jets flown by U.S. airlines is expected to increase in that period from 1,900 to 3,200.

About 10 per cent of the 1981 fleet will consist of new-type planes—supersonic transports and short take off and landing (STOL) jets. Unless the United States revives the recently killed SST program, the supersonic craft will be Russian TU144s or British-French Concorde.

Here are some other major conclusions of the conference: —A large increase in aircraft will require intense research into improved safety, including airborne collision avoidance systems which should be placed on all aircraft, large or small. Increased all-weather capability will be required to maintain rigid schedules. Emphasis should be placed on development of automatic flight guidance to relieve crews of a heavy workload, enabling them to monitor a wider range of operating equipment.

—An effective national air traffic control system, perhaps using satellites, must be developed capable of handling aircraft speeds from low subsonic to supersonic.

Traffic capacity could be greatly increased with automated systems such as a microwave landing guidance which would permit curved approach paths instead of the straight-in approach required today. Improved electronic equipment should be developed that might permit reduction of distance between runways, allowing more takeoffs and landings.

—Airport land is scarce and administrators might have to increase airport capacity within current boundaries. It may be necessary to restrict major airports to runways, ramps and taxiways, with all other functions such as maintenance, ticketing, parking, cargo and baggage handling moved elsewhere.

Congress Pressure Fails

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The administration seems to have failed in an effort to whip up grassroots pressure on Congress to approve its new education.

The campaign was designed to overcome opposition to the plan by such powerful congressional leaders as Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Committee.

Its apparent lack of success can be seen in the reactions of local educators who attended a series of 10 meetings sponsored by the administration in various parts of the country for state and local school officials.

"I'm in favor of revamping the federal aid, but I think it needs revamping, not just reshuffling," a Colorado school superintendent wrote the U.S. Office of Education after attending a Denver briefing on the plan.

Under the administration plan, 33 federal education programs would be consolidated in a five-party $3 billion package.

Questionnaires Seek Reaction
Questionnaires were passed out at each briefing seeking reaction to the proposal. A Wyoming school official even complained about the questionnaire: "It seems slanted entirely toward requesting positive approval of the program."

An education official made the questionnaires available to UPI but asked that names of respondents not be disclosed confidential.

"My primary concern," wrote a Western state school superintendent, "is that the Office of Education has literally thrown together a package to meet a presidential deadline for a revenue-sharing plan."

Revenue-sharing is awaiting its turn at the congressional turnstile.

A federal official reporting on a meeting in San Francisco on March 12 said there were "many and deep concerns about the administration's intentions as well as the substance of its proposal."

Major Complaints
Major complaints were that the plan offers no new money for education, that it merely shifts red tape from federal to state levels and that it concentrates too much power in the hands of state governors.

U.S. Education Commissioner Sidney P. Marland Jr., was told at one meeting that a planned $200 million increase in federal education funds under revenue-sharing was not adequate.

"It is not meant to be," Marland was quoted as replying. "It is merely to cushion the effect of a new formula. The $200 million is just to absorb flux."

Some responses showed enthusiastic support for the plan.

One from a big-city school superintendent in Kansas said: "There is no question in my mind that the proposed legislation... has tremendous possibility... the President and his staff members should be highly complimented for their determination in trying to bring federal money and program decisions closer to us school people."

Coin Show In Saugerties

SAUGERTIES — The 11th annual coin show of the Mid Hudson Numismatic Club will be held Sunday, July 25th, 12 noon to 5 p.m. at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street, Saugerties.

An auction will be held at intervals during the afternoon. Admission to the show is free and will give collectors, especially beginners, an opportunity to add to their collections. Displaying members will buy, sell, or trade during the afternoon.

Court at Outing

Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 167, Rosendale, and their families will meet on Saturday, June 19th at Hidden Valley, Whiteport Road, Kingston for an outing, which will round up the scouting year.

Included in the day's activities is a "Court of Awards," in which 18 junior girls will receive badges in recognition of their year's work. Mrs. Linda Aikens, RFD 1, Ulster Park is coordinator of the event, which is slated to begin at 1 p.m. in Hidden Valley's Sunrise Pavilion. The day's activities will also include swimming and picnicking.

WHITA Delegates Report on Syracuse Meeting

SYRACUSE — A local delegation of Michael Antonelli, Fred Hofbauer and Alice Tipp represented the Urban Development Corporation during a New York State Taxpayers information meeting held recently at the Randolph House here.

We've Had It Taxpayers Association of Ulster County at the sessions. Delegates also represented areas from Westchester across the state. The local delegates reported that a vigorous discussion ensued on the alleged misuse of taxpayer's money through the UDC.

Their report said: "This Corporation seems to be unanswerable to anyone, once they received money from bond issues authorized by the state. Taxpayers and town officials are in the process of instituting legal action to stop UDC in various sections throughout the state."

A WHITA spokesman added that the local organization will attempt to keep the public informed as to the developments in the UDC situation.

Another meeting of the state group is scheduled for June 27, also at the Randolph House.

The local WHITA group will meet July 7 at the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston at 7:30 o'clock.

Conservatives Endorse 3

ESOPUS — The Conservative Party of Esopus and Rosendale have endorsed the candidacies of Republican Glenn DeBrosky, Democrat Lewis Kirschner, and incumbent Esopus

Town Attorney Louis Klein for county legislators from Dist. 7. Announcement was made today by John Chontos who said that the selection was made at a well attended caucus held Tuesday night in the Town Hall in Port Ewen.

All candidates for the three posts addressed the caucus and a spirited question and answer period preceded the voting. Chontos said.

ARC Group to Meet on June 21

KINGSTON — A world recognized authority on Music and the Special Child will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Ulster County Association for Retarded Children, Monday, June 21.

Carl A. Genna, president of the local organization, announced that Mrs. T. Vera Moretti will lecture parents and intersted professionals at the program at the Emma Wygant School that night.

Mrs. Moretti has pursued studies at the Universities of Berlin and Vienna, Austria and in America at Boston University, Brandeis University and Lesley College. Mrs. Moretti is currently involved in teaching the Nordoff Robbins Method at the Waltham, Mass.

The topic of her lecture will be Music Therapy and the Profoundly Retarded Child.

The public may attend. A question and answer period will follow the talk.

Open House At Paltz Home

NEW PALTZ — An open house will be held Fathers Day, June 20 at the New Paltz Nursing Home 1 Jansen Road, New Paltz.

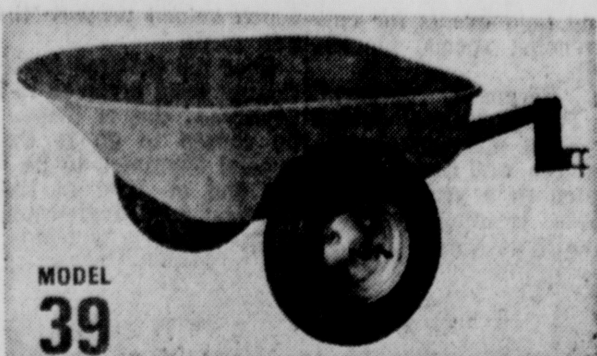

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Blue invite the public to attend the event and tour the new building which opened recently. Refreshments will be served. Hours are from 3 to 8 p.m.

The open house is in conjunction with National Nursing Home Week which starts on that day.

REMODELING PROJECT — Ulster Hose Co. 5 is nearing completion of a $10,000 remodeling program for its Ulster Avenue Mall meeting quarters. The work, being done largely by company members, is not supported by town taxes. The Ulster Avenue Mall firehouse is owned and maintained by the fire company, not the town. The project includes complete paneling of the hall, central air conditioning system which includes an electronic air cleaner which returns 100 per cent clean air to the room, and a new ceiling with new lighting fixtures. The kitchen in the building will have new electric wiring, lighting, floor, walls and ceiling. The project is financed by proceeds from the company's annual fair, the annual coin drop and weekly bingo games. Volunteers doing the work include (L-R) LeRoy Thomas Jr., F. D. Auchmoody, Garry Woodvine and Charles Crespin. Robert Henninger also is assisting. The fire hall is used by volunteers and Boy Scout Troop 10, Girl Scout Troop 96, Ulster Hose Ladies Auxiliary, and also for weekly games. The fire hall also is available to town residents for parties, receptions and other social events for a small rental fee.

Saugerties Area News

LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES — Saugerties candidates for the County Legislature to be elected in November gather at a recent Saugerties GOP dinner to coordinate plans for the fall campaign. They include (L-R) Wilson Edmunds, Charles Scala, Clifford Snyder, and Freeman Lasher. Scala and Snyder are incumbents. Lasher, a former member of the Legislature was defeated two years ago while running for reelection. Four legislators are elected for the Town of Saugerties.

Two Grades Tour Game Farm

MT. MARION. Also, Holly Baker, Doreen Barylski, Carla Bauser, Ronald Beadle, Tammy Beable, Joan Beisel, Larry Benjamin, Kimberly Bode, John Boice, Kenneth Budik, Walter Busch, Bernadette Cafaldo, Thomas Cole, Yaeger.

Two elementary grades at Mt. Marion School which recently completed studies on animals participated on a tour of the Catskill Game Farm with teachers, Miss Marianne Osterhout and Mrs. Roberta Place.

Those attending were Ellen Backus, Leslye Butcher, Kathleen Carroll, Debra Hoyt, Karry Kehoe, Thomas Lagano, Pamela Landers, Robin MacDonald, Raymond Maday, Michael Martino, Kevin McLaren, Lisa Mergendahl, Ronald Merz, Kerry Murray, Joyce Needham, Susan Newkirk, Tracey Nolan, Christine Olsen, Kimberly Oltz, Peter Polletieri, Andrew Plotzyk, Willett Richter, Patricia Tomaseski, Carl Wright.

Pollution Meeting

SAUGERTIES. A meeting of Saugerties Citizens Against Pollution will be held on Wednesday, June 23, 7:30 p.m., at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties.

The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss ways of dealing with local pollution problems. One of the main projects to be considered will be the creation of a permanent recycling program in the Saugerties area. Saugerties Citizens Against Pollution is an organization recently formed by a group of concerned Saugerties residents.

All Saugerties area residents who are interested in improving the quality of their environment are urged to attend this meeting.

BLUE MOUNTAIN. Citizenship was the theme of a play written and produced by the sixth grade social studies class of Mrs. Marjorie King at the Grant D. Morse School recently.

It took the form of a naturalization ceremony in which the students played the part of immigrants from various countries. The program was the culmination of a Festival of Nations exhibit of books and objects from different nations.

Each pupil wrote a report on a country of his own choosing as part of the work in social studies this semester. He was asked to write a few sentences giving reasons why people might have wished to leave that country for America. These were worked into the play as the judge, acted by Ronald Sicker, asked each one why he had come. Values of liberty and loyalty were stressed as the judge welcomed each newcomer with recognition of the national qualities contributed by each.

Many of the children had chosen to report on countries from which their own people had originally come, and took these parts in the play, although in some cases the reasons for coming were updated. One of these was Heidi Rothe who, in authentic costume copied from a family portrait, played the part of a Ukrainian girl.

Bonnie Bogardus and Gary Mason played the part of Germans who had escaped from East Germany because they did not wish to live under a Communist system.

Patricia Mower, Thomas Campbell, and Larry Arena chose to represent Spaniards who had come to escape a dictatorship, and to enjoy the freedoms of America.

Francesca Puma, Jeffrey DiCesare, and Arthur Pavinato took the part of Italian immigrants who had come for better economic opportunity and better education.

Two from Ireland, hoping for better jobs and freedom from religious strife, were Robbin Pelham and Maureen Lowry. Janet Ricketson, Richard Lapinski, and Elizabeth Linzey from Sweden, said they preferred free enterprise.

Susan Hegner and Connie Brayley chose to represent Switzerland, saying they admired George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Thomas Jefferson as Americans admire William Tell.

Lisa Storms and James Burton said they had escaped from Communist China by way of Hong Kong, and hoped to find a better life here.

Steven Peterson, representing Pakistan, said he had come to escape civil war and border strife.

From Norway, land of the Vikings, came Stephen Landell.

David Wolven had chosen to represent a rancher from Australia. Julia Sumpter took the part of an immigrant from Yugoslavia.

Herbert Waterous, wearing a French beret, played the part of a Frenchman. In welcoming him, the judge mentioned the gift of the Statue of Liberty, and read the poem inscribed on its base.

Peggy Todd was the announcer for the program, which was given as a transmission from radio station "U.S.A."

Wayne Cody served as a court attendant. This part of the program concluded with the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance by the "new citizens," joined by the whole assembly. Everyone sang, accompanied by Kenneth Baumgartner, vocal music teacher, on the piano, Thomas Campbell on the clarinet, and Mark Trnka substituting for Brian Wilson, on the trumpet.

Special Olympics Held

SAUGERTIES. Seven children from Mt. Marion School participated in the recent Ulster County Special Olympics at State University, New Paltz.

Special Olympics include track and field events for children attending special classes, aged 8-21.

Ralph Ferguson, Deborah Haines, Phillip Magee, Joseph Martin, Edna Meiswinkel, William Waldron, and Ernest White participated in a yearly physical fitness training program which helped prepare them for this event.

Over 250 children from Ulster County were involved in Special Olympics. Out of these, 25 will be chosen to go to the State Special Olympics to be held at the end of June at the State University in Binghamton.

Library Continues Growing

WOODSTOCK The number of librarians at the Woodstock Library has been slowly growing over the past few years and the staff now consists of three full time and three part time librarians; full time, in this instance, defined as being in the library the full 22 hours each week that the library is open.

Mrs. Ellen Roberts has been head librarian since January 1968. She began her career here coincidentally with the opening of the new building. Her career preceding her association with the Woodstock Library was as senior editor at Doubleday in New York. Her husband, Richard Roberts, had been editor both at Dell and at Bantam and during that period they were Woodstockers only on weekends. Mrs. Roberts received her library training at Pratt Institute.

Mrs. Connie Catalano has been assistant librarian for six years. She has lived in Woodstock since 1949. Her husband, Carlo, before his death was a printer with a shop on the Glasco Turnpike from 1949 to 1954.

Mrs. Charlotte Heller has been assistant librarian for seven years. She and her husband, Richard, have lived in Woodstock 13 years and presently live on Plochman Lane.

Mrs. Gretchen Mount came to Woodstock in 1922 with her parents, the late Judson and Mary Smith. She has worked at the library as a part time librarian since 1964.

Another second generation Woodstocker is part time librarian Mrs. Lawrence Roberts, who is the youngest daughter of Ben and Gioja Webster. She started work in the library in March of this year. She studied library science at Pratt Institute and now lives with her writer husband in Byrdcliffe.

Mrs. Susan Bair has been a part time librarian here for two years. She and her husband, French translator Lowell Bair, with their three children have lived in Woodstock for 10 years. Mrs. Bair is also on the Book Committee, a volunteer group who assist the librarian in the selection of new books.

The Woodstock Library has two other employees who, though not librarians, give essential service. Lois Wilbur, custodian, keeps the building in its spotless condition and Peter Langham, yard man, does considerably more than cut the grass and shovel the snow.

WOODSTOCK AREA NEWS

Rondout Will be the Topic

WOODSTOCK The Historical Society of Woodstock will hold a public meeting in the Woodstock Town Hall on Tinker Street at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The feature of the evening will be an illustrated discussion of Rondout before Urban Renewal. Slides of Rondout as it looked in the last century will be contrasted with photographs taken during the demolition work over the last two years.

The speaker will be Eugene Dauner, society trustee, who has been collecting old photos and postcards of Ulster County. Dauner managed to take a great many pictures of Rondout during the demolition work and many of his pictures reveal details of buildings that were visible only because of the irregular demolition pattern.

Rondout was completely a product of the last century with some, very fine commercial structures many of which were devoted to businesses related to shipping.

The slides of early Woodstock that were to be shown at the Antiques Fair on Memorial Day will be shown at this meeting. Slides are very difficult to show outdoors on a bright, sunny day. There will be a scene of early Woodstock shown for people to guess the location. A prize will be given for the first correct answer.

Future plans for the society will be discussed at this meeting and the winners of the On-teora 7th grade local history paper contest will be announced. The public is welcome to attend and participate in the discussions.

Fair, Barbecue Scheduled

WOODSTOCK Christ's Lutheran Church of 28 Mill Hill Road, Woodstock, is holding its annual fair and chicken Bar-B-Q on Saturday, June 26. The fair will begin at 11 a.m.; the children Bar-B-Q at 4 p.m.

The ladies of the LCW have met on Wednesdays of each month since September to prepare for this annual event. Most of the meetings have been spent in cutting and sewing together strips of yard goods to be woven into rugs. There will also be numerous other handmade articles for sale, some made at workshops and others made by the ladies at home.

In addition to the table of new articles, there will also be a baked goods table, plants table, special items table, and a new addition this year, a table of items made by and being sold by the Youth Group of the church. Hot dogs and all the trimmings will be sold during the early part of the day.

Weather permitting, the Bar-B-Q will be served outdoors.

Art Students School Opens July 1

The Art Students League of New York will open its summer school in Woodstock on July 1 and as in the school in New York City, will continue through Aug. 26.

The Art Students League, founded by dissident students at the National Academy of Design in 1875, has since grown to become the world's largest independent art school.

In Woodstock the instructors will be Robert Angeloch, well-known painter of romantic landscapes, author of "Basic Oil Painting Techniques" published by Pitman; Bruce Dorfman, whose latest one man show will be at Kennedy Galleries next fall, and Seymour Leichman, art director, painter, graphic artist, designer, muralist and set and stage designer.

A fully illustrated catalogue of the Summer Schools is available free of charge by applying in writing or telephoning the Art Students League, 215 W. 57th Street.

Registration for Vacation School

WOODSTOCK Registrations are being accepted at this time for the vacation church school to be held at the Overlook United Methodist Church from Aug. 2 through 13.

It will be sponsored by Overlook United Methodist, Christ's Lutheran, St. John's Roman Catholic and St. Gregory's Episcopal Churches, and will be open to all children in the area. Teenagers in junior high school will be welcome to assist with games and refreshments.

Photos Sought Of Woodstock Area Pollution

L.I.F.E. (Live in a Fulfilled Environment), Woodstock's ecology group, is holding a pollution photo exhibition.

Pictures detailing pollution problem in Woodstock Township should be submitted to Family, 6 Rock City Road, Woodstock, by July 15.

Photos should include the source of the pollution pictures, the date taken, the name, address and telephone number of the photographer. Both black and white, and color prints will be accepted, as will Polaroid prints.

The exhibition will be held in the Ecology Action Room of the Family Building, beginning July 18.

Cuban Airlift Continues, Despite Recent Criticism

MIAMI (UPI)—A little more than five years ago, Rolando Losada was a pharmacist, dispensing prescriptions in a small town in Cuba's Oriente Province and trying to adjust to life under a Communist regime.

In April, 1966, life changed radically for Losada and his family. After talking things over with relatives and trusted friends, he and his wife signed up for space on the twice-daily "Freedom Flights" to the United States, along with their three young sons.

The flights had begun four months earlier and they were eligible because Losada had a cousin living in the United States.

The Losada family immediately achieved the lowest status in Cuba's classless society. They became "gusanos." The word means worm and is applied with contempt to all who are considered traitors to the revolutionary government of Premier Fidel Castro.

Rolando Losada lost his job and was assigned to "agricultural tasks"—cutting sugar cane and handling other chores to help boost the island's lagging farm production.

The Losadas were permitted to continue living in their small home, but the confiscation process began with an official inventory of everything in it, down to the last cup and saucer. These things became state property, to be "turned in" on their departure.

As outcasts, the Losadas found themselves at the bottom of the list for rationed food, clothes and other goods. With Rolando away for weeks at a time in a farm labor camp, Matilde Losada managed to feed and clothe the family with the help of relatives.

The weeks stretched into months and the months into years. More than 200,000 Cubans were ahead of the Losada family on the waiting list, all with relatives in the United States.

Finally, word came for Rolando Losada and his family to report to Verdadero Airfield, 75 miles east of Havana, five years and one month after indicating a desire to leave Cuba.

Packing was no problem, since they could bring nothing but a few clothes. No money, jewelry or valuables can be taken except for simple gold wedding rings.

Matilde had carefully set aside a purse and fairly good dress for herself, a suit and tie for Rolando and neat clothing for the boys. Cuban authorities do not permit shabby refugees aboard the flights. Women must carry purses, men must wear suits and children must have shoes.

Along with 85 other refugees, they arrived in Miami recently aboard an Electra turboprop plane chartered from Eastern Airlines by the U.S. government. After several hours of separate set of names of those interrogation and processing, the Losadas were ready to proceed to New York, where Rolando's cousin lives.

How does Losada feel about starting all over at the age of 43? "Well, right now, just relieved at getting out of Cuba after all this time," he said in an interview. "That place is a disaster. And it's getting worse every day."

He launched into a bitter denunciation of the Castro regime, pausing only to ask that his name not appear in print. It won't. Rolando and Matilde Losada are not their real names.

"We wouldn't want any House of Representatives to cut reprisals taken against the relatives we left behind," he said. "You understand. My wife's mother is old and she didn't want to leave. Some had to keep their jobs while others and in effect providing a signed up to leave. They had to make that sacrifice. Others are still on the list to come out."

Thousands of Cubans are still lost on the list, although it is believed the list was closed in May of 1966, soon after the Losadas made their decision to leave. The Cuban government has never revealed the total number on the list and the U.S. government can only guess. American officials have their own list of 70,000 names of relatives provided by Cubans living in this country but the Cuban government has a oppression."

Hearing Held in Rhinebeck On Proposed Dog Ordinance

By TIM SCHUSTER
RHINEBECK, N.Y. — A public hearing on a proposed dog ordinance for the Town of Rhinebeck held Wednesday night found almost all present in accordance with the primary premises of the statute. While decision was reserved by Board spokesman Louis Asher, the intent of the local law seemed positively in evidence through conversations to be a somewhat mild regulation of dog activities. Implicit in the law was the idea expressed by one resident as "The dog is free to roam as long as he does nothing wrong."

The basic legal recourse of the law would be that a complaint must be registered before any action is taken. Asher said that this idea is implicit in the law. The only major objection raised at the sparsely attended hearing was brought up by Lester Butler. He contended that the specification stating that dogs howling or barking during the daytime were exempt from the statute whereas dogs barking during night hours were subject to prosecution was an infringement on those persons who sleep daytimes and work nights. Town justice Herman Tietjen said that hypersensitive persons cannot control the law as far as noise, as the law refers to a "rule of reason."

He interpreted this as determining whether barking interferes with "peace and repose" of the majority of the neighborhood. "We cannot protect everybody," he said. He continued, "There are many people who complain about children playing and making noise. I say let them make noise. I say let them make noise."

The point was made that a complaint must be registered with the town before any action can be taken with regard to dogs. It is not sufficient to complain without any substantial background. Tietjen also mentioned that he hoped to have complaint forms made up to deal with the expected influx of dog-related complaints. Town Supervisor William Allen has noted this past year with the town before any action he has received has been in relation to dog problems. No date was set for any decision on the dog law. The dog warden is empowered to enforce all aspects of this made up to deal with the ex-

Drug Raid In Sullivan Nets 21 Persons

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—Twenty-one persons were arrested on drug selling charges in a coordinated raid by state and local police and Sullivan County sheriff's deputies Wednesday.

One of the suspects, Mrs. Josephine Bruno, 53, of Monticello was ordered held in bail of $25,000 on charges of criminal possession and sale of a dangerous drug.

Bail was set at $50,000 each for her son, Joseph, 20, and Earl Smith, 34, of Monticello. The Bruno youth was charged with two counts of criminal sale and one of possession. Smith was charged with two counts of criminal sale and a misdemeanor charge of possession.

Troopers said heroin and other "hard" drugs were involved in the charges.

Greene County's OTB Plans Are Rejected by Commission

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Greene County, which hoped to have the first legal off-track betting system in upstate New York, will not meet its scheduled starting time.

Plans for the wagering scheme were rejected by the state's Off-Track Betting Commission Wednesday because the county's proposal gave too much control to the private firm retained to operate the system.

Oreste Vincent of Catskill, chairman of the county's off-track commission, said he had not received a copy of the states decision. He said no decision would be made on possible changes in the application until the five-member panel studied the rejection—but he said the action delays the start-up until after the summer tourist season.

The rejection coincided with a closed-door hearing by the state's "supercop" concerning the firm involved with Greene County: the U.S. Data Corp., of Albany.

Joseph Sabbatino of Troy, U.S. Data's acting president, spent the day testifying under subpoena at the offices of the Organized Crime Task Force.

"I have an opinion fixed in my mind as to where the county should go," Vincent said. He said he would disclose his ideas at an appropriate time.

Vincent said he had some reservations about the U.S. Data plan but pointed out the county had applied to the state before his commission was formed. The U. S. Data plan was submitted Feb. 4; the Greene County legislature did not set up the commission until April 6 and did not establish its powers and duties until May 14.

Repeated efforts to contact other officers or spokesmen for the company were unsuccessful.

The OBC rejected the application from the resort area on grounds the county "obviously would have little or no control" over the system of taking bets in local parlors, with U.S. Data running a computer center in Albany.

For example, the company would have jurisdiction over personnel policies and do most of the auditing.

The commission said cities and counties who want off-track betting cannot "erect or lend themselves simply as fronts for others, masquerading as municipal agencies or adjuncts, in the conduct of that municipal purpose."

OBC also claimed a proposal for "three horse novelty betting" or wagering on a three-digit combination, would amount to legalized numbers betting.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for supercop Robert E. Fischer confirmed the agency has subpoenaed U.S. Data's financial records, as well as bank accounts of 10 individuals and ordered three officers to testify at closed hearings.

Beside Sabbatino, the spokesman said, those summoned were company president Paul A. Costello of Loudonville, and his wife, Helen.

Costello was reported hospitalized about two weeks ago, and the couple's hearing was postponed until June 23.

Although the spokesman would not comment on the purpose of the probe, the only authorized jurisdiction for the supercop is organized crime which occurs in more than one county.

If it finds possible crimes, the office is empowered to ask indictments from county grand juries.

When called for comment about the off-track report, an employee at the U.S. Data offices said "no one is available" for comment to the press.

Sisterhood Elects; Enjoys Talk, Skit At Recent Meeting

A musical skit, "Shushan on the Rocks," a report by Rabbi Harry Schectman on his recent trip to Israel, and election of officers were the highlights of the final general membership meeting of the year of the Sisterhood Ahavath Israel. The Rabbi gave a short talk on the various highlights of his trip and discussed the various biblical references to the places he and Mrs. Schectman visited. The audience was taken on another imaginary journey — this one to Persia for the re-enactment of a modern day Purim story. Featured in the musical production were the Mmes: Harry Schectman, Martin Netburn, Irving Scher, Seymour Semilof, Arnold Goldschlag, Carl Lipton, Hy Rosenberg, Norman Sherry, Isidore Tevlovitz, Isidore Weinstein, and Leonard Herschoff. Mrs. Henry Singer was accompanist.

The business portion of the meeting featured the election of officers who will serve the Sisterhood for the coming two years. The unanimously adopted slate includes: Mrs. Ira Shaw, president; Mrs. Marvin Millens, Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, Mrs. Epraim Propp, and Mrs. Martin Netburn, vice-presidents; Mrs. George Jacobson, treasurer; Mrs. Isidore Tevlovitz, recording secretary; Mrs. Max Eckdich, financial secretary; Mrs. Leonard Herschoff, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Henry Jacobs, outgoing president, thanked the entire membership for their co-operation during her administration, and wished the new officers success with their duties. Mrs. Jacobs will be honored at a luncheon on Wednesday, June 30. Those wishing to attend must contact Mrs. Marvin Millens, Mrs. Ira Shaw, or Mrs. Irving Scher by June 23 for details and reservations.

Rummage Sale

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Overlook United Methodist Church in Woodstock will sponsor a rummage sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Miss Linda Lee Dyer, 24 Duzine Road, New Paltz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Dyer, became the bride of Michael C.T. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Belleville, N.J., on Saturday, June 5 at United Methodist Church, New Paltz.

The Rev. Roy A. Hassel, pastor, officiated at the ceremony assisted by the Rev. Father Colligan. Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of silk organza and taffeta fashioned with an empire bodice of lace. Appliques of lace motifs accented the A-line skirt and sleeves. Her chapel train was of organza over appliques of lace. A stylized circlet of lace and silk organza held her shoulder length illusion veil and she carried a cascade of Eucharis lilies.

Sharon Burke of Newburgh was honor attendant in a yellow georgette and taffeta gown styled with an empire bodice and daisy trim. She wore a garden hat of natural straw and carried garden basket of yellow and white daisies and purple statice tied with purple velvet bows.

Attendants were Paula McMurray, sister of the bridegroom, Belleville, N.J.; Karen Boardman of Rochester; Nancy Dyer, Hyde Park; Lynn Blanchard of Binghamton. Their gowns and headpieces were identical in styling to that of the honor attendant's. They carried baskets of daisies.

Flower girls were Kimberly and Sandra McMurray, nieces of the bridegroom. They wore yellow dotted Swiss dresses and carried small baskets of daisies.

Dr. William Brockman of Baltimore, Md. served as best man. Ushers were Robert Harvey of Carne, N.J.; Warner Smith of Atlanta, Georgia; Walter Dyer Jr., brother of the bride, Hyde Park; Robert McMurray, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Belleville, N.J. David Dyer, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

A reception for 150 guests was held at the Rhoda Arms in Newburgh.

The bride, a graduate of New Paltz Central School, received her Bachelor of Science degree at State University College at Cortwill receive his Ph.D. in master's degree in Education in August. She is teaching mathematics in Chenango Forks Central School System.

The bridegroom received his BS degree at Cornell University and his MS degree at University of Alaska. He will receive his Ph.D. in Natural Resources Conservation in August from Cornell University.

Upon completion of their degrees, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Alaska.

St. John's Episcopal Church, Albany Avenue, Kingston, was the setting of the wedding of Miss Karol Lynn Murray and Donald Cashdollar Jr. on Saturday, June 5. The Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Louise Luther, organist, accompanied Miss Rita Horvers who sang the theme form Romeo and Juliet and traditional wedding selections. Vases of daisies and baby's breath decorated the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Murray, 9 Chestnut Street, Rolling Meadows, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cashdollar Sr., Lake Katrine.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a white dotted Swiss gown, trimmed with yellow and white daisies, and fashioned with a train. Her three tiered veil was accented with daisies and she carried a bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath.

Sister of the bride, Jennifer Lee Murray, 9 Chestnut Street, Rolling Meadows, served as maid of honor. Attendants were Joanne Cashdollar, sister of the bridegroom, Lake Katrine; Laurie Gulick, cousin of the bride; Linda Thomas, cousin of the bride; Deposit; and Karen Norton, Kingston. Miss Allison Ingalsbe served as flower girl. The attendants wore yellow dotted Swiss gowns, trimmed with daisies, and white straw hats accented with yellow ribbons. They carried baskets of yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Henry Paul, Tampa, Fla., was best man for his cousin. Girard DeVau, cousin of the bridegroom, Wayne, Pa.; Robert Craig Murray, Richard Kyle Murray, both brothers of the bride of Kingston; Donald Brott, Lake Katrine; and David Rose, Kingston, were ushers.

A reception for 150 guests was held at Wiltwyck Country Club, Kingston.

The bride wore a floor length dotted Swiss peasant dress and carried a nosegay of white daisies for her wedding trip to the New Jersey shore.

Mrs. Cashdollar Jr. is a 1967 graduate of Kingston High School and attended Ulster County Community College. She is employed by New York Telephone Company. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School, Class of 1967, and Villanova University, Villanova, Pa. where he received a Bachelor of Engineering degree in Civil Engineering. He is employed by Shumavon, Buckley and Associates, New York City.

Miss Susan Carol Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Potter Sr., 170 Horton Lane, Port Ewen, became the bride of Thomas Nourse Salzmänn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Salzmänn, 166 Wrentham Street, Kingston, on Saturday, June 5 at 11 a.m. at Port Ewen United Methodist Church.

The Rev. David Lull of Port Ewen United Methodist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. David Lull, organist, accompanied Mrs. Bruce Palen, who sang traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected an ivory silk organza gown. The fitted empire bodice was fashioned with a lace yoke and a high neckline. A lace panel accented the front of the princess style skirt and the silk bishop sleeves were trimmed with lace appliques. Her cathedral length veil of ivory French silk illusion was worn with a spray of yellow static flowers and she carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

Miss Joann Potter, 170 Horton Lane, Port Ewen, and Mrs. Paul Natale Jr., Columbus, Ga., both sisters of the bride, served as maid and matron of honor, respectively. They wore yellow floor length gowns of voile, styled with fitted empire bodices and princess style skirts. Satin ribbons accented the bodices and terminated into a bustle back.

Attendants were Miss Sara Salzmänn, sister of the bridegroom, 166 Wrentham Street, Kingston; Miss Colleen Cernak, Latham; and Mrs. John Potter Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, Dogwood Lane, Port Ewen. Their violet gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendants'. All bridesmaids wore satin ribbons in their hair and carried bouquets of mixed spring flowers.

Miss Kristin Potter, niece of the bride, served as flower girl in a similarly styled yellow gown and carried a basket of mixed spring flowers.

John Salzmänn, 166 Wrentham Street, Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Paul Natale Jr., brother-in-law of the bride, Columbia, Ga.; John Potter Jr., brother of the bride, Port Ewen; Jon Stull, Connecticut; James Uhl, Michigan; and William Salzmänn, brother of the bridegroom, who served as junior usher. John B. Potter, nephew of the bride was ringbearer.

A reception for 130 guests was held at Beekman Arms.

For her wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride wore a white blouse, a long yellow gingham skirt and a daisy corsage.

Mrs. Salzmänn is a graduate of State University of New York at Cobleskill and has been teaching nursery school at Highland and Hurley. Her husband is a 1971 alumnus of Colgate University where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and president of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He will continue his education at University of Wisconsin this September where he will participate in a doctoral program in Chemistry.

Mr. and Mrs. Salzmänn will reside in Kingston for the summer and then move to Wisconsin in the fall.

Hubby's Friends Got Her 'Number'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: There is an attractive woman in our social circle who certainly looks and acts the part of a "lady." Altho she's a grandmother she is very young looking for her age.

This woman is married to a well-to-do man who treats her like a queen. She has a beautiful home, her own car, expensive clothes and plenty of money. The problem: This so-called lady has been telephoning several men in her social circle and asking them to meet her to discuss something "very important." Then she asks their "advice and counsel" on what to do about her frustrations over a loveless, sexless marriage.

Now a man would have to be stupid not to know what she is after. Men talk, Abby, and I'm afraid this is going to get back to her husband. He's a good friend of mine, a sweet guy, and deserves better.

Please print this. She might see it and realize she is on thin ice. This is no joke. I was—

"ALSO APPROACHED"
DEAR ALSO: And what if she doesn't see it? If you really want to do your friend a favor, tell his wife to cool it because people are talking.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor's wind chimes are driving me batty! I listened to those chimes all last summer and if I have to listen to them again this summer I'll go mad, but what can I do? This neighbor has hung the chimes on a tree which is right outside my bedroom window. She has air-conditioning and I don't, so I have to raise my window when I retire and all I can hear is tinkling and clanging until I could just about jump out of my skin!

Of what earthly good are those chimes anyway? I have a good relationship with this neighbor, who is very nice, and I don't want to get her angry with me, so please help me solve this problem peacefully.

GOING BATTY

Dear Abby

DEAR GOING: Tell your neighbor that her chimes are a source of annoyance to you, and if she is a "nice" person and you have a good relationship with each other, she will remove them promptly. It's as simple as that! (P.S. And if she's not so "nice" as you thought she was, and refuses to remove the chimes, there are laws against disturbing the peace.)

DEAR ABBY: I am afraid I am a pushover for young people. Three young employees who work with me have borrowed money from me to meet personal emergencies. The smallest amount was $200. Not one of those who owes me has ever mentioned the debt, not made any effort to repay even a part of it. One debt is two years old. (By the way, I didn't ask for any interest on my money, nor did I ask anyone to sign a note.)

All three co-workers are very friendly to me, and none seems embarrassed about his nonpayments. I am far from wealthy and could use the cash myself as I shall be retiring soon. How shall I handle this?

OLD ENOUGH TO KNOW BETTER

DEAR OLD ENOUGH: Try this: "Look, my young friend, you have owed me $... for ... months. I've said nothing, hoping you would recognize the importance of keeping your credit good. You will hurt yourself in the future more than you hurt me now if you don't pay your honest debts. How about it?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO PLEASE: A girl who doesn't know how old a girl has to be before she can leave home is too young to try it. (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:25 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Installation; Empire Girl State Dinner Held Recently at Skytop

The annual Empire Girl State dinner and installation of officers of Ulster County Committee of American Legion Auxiliary was held recently at Skytop Restaurant, Route 28, Kingston.

Mrs. Marge Trowbridge, a past county chairman, installed the following: Mrs. Shirley Sampsen, county chairman, Olivebridge Unit No. 1627; Mrs. Margaret Carroll, first vice president, Rosendale-Tillson Unit No. 1219; Mrs. Sarah Stimson, second vice president, Stimson-Rose-Sheely Unit No. 1034; Mrs. Betty Sanford, secretary, Town of Esopus No. 1298; Mrs. Annette McMonagle, treasurer, Rosendale-Tillson Unit No. 1219.

Mrs. Mary Dempsey, chaplain, Town of Esopus Unit No. 1298; Mrs. Florence Lowe, sergeant at arms, Lowe-Marbletown Unit No. 1512; Mrs. Nellie Ronk, Lloyd

Unit No. 193, historian; Mrs. Bea Shea, rehabilitation chairman, Marbletown Unit No. 1512; Mrs. Edna Branigan, child welfare, Sullivan-Shafer Unit No. 176; Mrs. Katherine Long, Mrs. Nellie Ronk and Mrs. Mildred Helmich, executive committee; other committee chairman will be announced.

Seven high school juniors, selected by their principal and interviewed and endorsed by the local Unit of their Township, were entertained by the Ulster County Committee of the Legion Auxiliary. They are Catherine Brito, Kingston Unit No. 150; Jacqueline Dietrich, Sullivan-Shafer Unit No. 176; Lynn Pauli, Lloyd Unit No. 193; Patti Adels, Phoenixia Unit No. 950; Alvera Terwilliger, Rose Sheely Unit No. 1034; Bonnie Ludlow, Unit No. 1219; Susan Kinsler, No. 1298. These girls will attend Empire Girl State at Albany State College starting June 27 through July 2.

This non-political program is a practical application of Americanism and good citizenship. It is an attempt to instill in the youth of America a better understanding of citizenship and a love for God and country.

They are taught to live together as self-governing citizens, and taught duties and responsibilities of American citizenship as adults. Only single girls who have never been married are eligible. It is mandatory that the girls be in the third year of high school regardless of the year ends in June or February. They are expected to return home and complete their education with a true knowledge of what it means to be an American Citizen. The course is strenuous and all girls must be physically fit and rank highly in courage, honesty, scholarship and cooperativeness.

Mrs. Mildred Helmich and Mrs. Marie Price were dinner co-chairmen. Mrs. Helmich, County Empire Girl State chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Judy Hevesi of West Hurley, last year's Girl Stater, sponsored by Woodstock Unit No. 1026. Miss Hevesi gave an interesting report on Girl State including the various activities offered. Miss Hevesi held the position of comptroller in the mythical state of Girl State. Another guest in attendance was Miss Linda Byer, 1966 Girl Stater.

Mrs. Shirley Sampsen, first vice president, thanked the dinner chairmen and various committees for their cooperation, and Mrs. Mary Dempsey, Third District chairman and newly installed county chaplain, expressed appreciation to the Auxiliary for inviting her as guest. Meeting was adjourned with "A Prayer for Our Prisoners of War" by Mrs. Dempsey.

COUNTY COMMITTEE OFFICERS — The Ulster County Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary held election and installation of officers at the Skytop on June 10. Taking office for 1971-72 were, seated (L-R) Mrs. Frank Dempsey, chaplain; Mrs. Lester Sanford, secretary; Mrs. Daniel McMonagle, treasurer; standing (L-R) Mrs. Arthur Sampsen, incoming chairman; Mrs. Douglas Trowbridge, installing officer. Outgoing chairman is Mrs. Edward Smith. (Freeman photo by Krub).

ANNUAL FAIR, AUCTION — Mr. Richard Lake, auctioneer, and Norman Tierney, auctioneer, discuss final arrangements for the fifth annual County Fair and Auction sponsored by the Town of Rosendale, United Reformed Church of Route 32, Bloomington. Scheduled for Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., the event will feature a variety of fancy work, a bakery, homemade ice cream, children's booth, and a lunch counter. Games for children will be provided by the Youth Group of the church. A highlight of the day will be the auction at 1 p.m. Proceeds for the event will benefit local, domestic and foreign mission project. The public is invited to attend. (Freeman photo by Krub).

Annual Children's Art Exhibit Planned at Young People's Studio

An exhibition of children's art, conceived and created with a wide range of materials by children ages four to 12, will be open to the public Saturday at Young People's Studio of Woodstock. Hours will be from 2 to 5 p.m. and the exhibition will be open only for this one day.

The children will be exhibiting paintings in oil and acrylic, water colors, tempera paintings, collage, sculpture, pottery, combination linoleum and wood prints, and drawings. All the work was done under the guidance of Mrs. Jeanne Dorfman.

Registration is also open for the 1971 summer session. The classes during the summer months are open to children of three different age groups: six to eight year olds, nine to 12 year olds, and a special program for four to five year olds. The groups are small, about 12 children each, with the bulk of instruction geared specifically to the needs of each child. Each group meets separately, once a week, in the comfortable, well-equipped studio in an atmosphere of informality. The Studio provides all of the basic materials and registration during the summer months is by the class.

All children's classes are under the guidance of Miss

Suzanne Blatter who will be presenting the professional instruction.

Young People's Studio is located in Woodstock, in the center of town, at 3 Tinker Street. Detailed information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Bruce Dorfman in Woodstock.

Jorgensen—Best and Worst

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It was the best of times and it was the worst of times for young Mike Jorgensen.

He liked the best of times better. Jorgensen blasted two home runs—one a tremendous tape-measure job—Wednesday, helping the New York Mets to a 7-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. That was the best of times.

He also made two errors on one play, not an easy task. That was the worst of times. In the end, Jorgy could smile and enjoy the best of times anyway.

Recalled from Tidewater of the International League last weekend to replace ailing Tommie Agee, who's on the 15-day disabled list, Jorgy provided some punch for the slumping Mets, who had dropped four of the last five games before Wednesday.

Jorgensen thought about the slump on his way to the ballpark Wednesday. "I thought, if I could get in the lineup and get a couple of hits, maybe it could help the club get started," said Jorgy.

When the youngster arrived at Shea Stadium, Manager Gil Hodges had a surprise for him—the starting spot in center field.

"I just wanted to get another left-handed bat in the lineup," said Hodges.

Give his chance against Bill Singer, Jorgensen wasted no time. After the Dodgers had scratched a run against Charlie Williams on a walk and two in field hits in the top of the first, Jorgensen swung at the first pitch he saw in the bottom half of the inning.

The ball jumped off his bat and soared toward the scoreboard. It was still climbing when it banged up against the board some 400 feet from home plate.

"That might be the longest ball I'll ever hit," said Jorgy. "It was," Hodges understated, "a pretty good poke."

That tied it at 1-1 and it stayed that way until the fifth inning when Art Shamsky's two-out single scored Duffy Dyer, who had singled and moved up on a walk. That gave New York a 2-1 edge and set up the worst of times for Jorgensen.

Willie Crawford opened the plate. "That might be the longest ball I'll ever hit," said Jorgy. "It was," Hodges understated, "a pretty good poke."

Willie Crawford opened the plate. "That might be the longest ball I'll ever hit," said Jorgy. "It was," Hodges understated, "a pretty good poke."

Dodgers sixth with a single and one out later, Richie Allen lifted a fly ball to center.

Jorgensen seemed unsteady under the ball, went to his knee and finally dropped it. When he recovered the ball, he threw wildly toward second and Crawford wound up at third and Allen, on second.

"I saw the ball all the way until it reached its peak," said Jorgensen. "Then I lost it in the sun and I didn't see it again until the last moment."

Williams, however, making only his second big league start, escaped the jam. He walked Wes Parker intentionally to load the bases, then got Jim LeFebvre to hit into a double play.

Jorgensen made up for it with another homer, this one over the right field fence in the eighth.

By then the Mets had the game under control with a three-run sixth inning climaxed by Buddy Harrelson's two-out, two-run single.

Bahnsen—New Ace

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Stan Bahnsen may be moving in as the ace of the New York Yankees pitching staff. He now has won five in a row and over this stretch has turned in the best pitching of his career.

That's the appraisal from Yankee Manager Ralph Houk. Bahnsen agrees.

"Stan's last five games have been his best," Houk said after Bahnsen tossed a four-hitter for a 3-2 victory Wednesday night over the Kansas City Royals before a crowd of 25,496.

"This one wasn't as good as the four before this game," Houk said. "He was more erratic because he had five full days rest. That's too much for him."

Bahnsen's triumph over the Royals was his second in less than two weeks. He flew here from two weeks of military duty at Ft. Dix, N.J., and had to be back in camp early today. He walked six and struck out two.

"I didn't get to run between starts," Bahnsen said. "I didn't get to throw the ball into a glove. I threw against a wall at Ft. Dix a little."

"But I was strong. I just couldn't position the ball like I should. They could have beaten me with a hit in a couple of innings."

The Yankees got the winning run in the eighth. Reliever Tom Burgmeier, 32, gave up singles to Jerry Kenney and Bobby Murcer and walked Roy White to load the bases. Ted Abernathy replaced Burgmeier and Kenney scored when shortstop Rich Severson threw to the plate wide and late after Felipe Alou's grounder.

Paul Schaal drew a leadoff walk in the first, moved to second and third on groundouts and scored on Ed Kirkpatrick's single off Bahnsen. Severson beat out a bouncer in the seventh, the first hit off Bahnsen since Jerry May's second-inning leadoff double, reached third on Schaal's single and scored on Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly.

Singles by John Ellis, Gene Michael and Kenney scored a Yankee run in the fifth. New York pulled ahead in the sixth when White singled, went to third on Alou's single and scored on Thurman Munson's sacrifice fly.

The loss was Kansas City's second in a row buy only its third in 15 games. The Royals now trail the Oakland Athletics, the American League West pace-setters, by 6½ games.

Open Oldster Likes Jack

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is just an ordinary putter but bulldog determination and bull strength should pull him through to the Open golf title here this week, pre-dicts old Dutch Harrison.

"I never thought Jack could putt much but he's the only three-putted the first and ninth He shot 72-76-148.

man strong enough to get out holes on the final round and finished the rough here," said the 61-year-old club pro, once known as the Arkansas Traveler.

At 61, Harrison is the oldest back event won by Hogan in a U.S. Open Championship, which starts its 71st run today over the Forest Hills Club in St. Louis, qualified in the regional Old Dutch came close to win trials at St. Louis' Belleview course. He course, scene of the 1965 Open.

"I haven't played any tournament golf in about a year," he said. "Can't tell how I'm going to do."

Harrison started caddying when he was 12 at a nine-hole course across the road from the farm where his dad worked. He and some companions improvised two holes on the infield of a baseball diamond and spent hours pitching mashie shots back and forth about 150 yards.

"I played in my first tournament in 1930—Tommy Armour won it," he recalled. "There were only about eight or ten tournaments in those days and very little money. Total prize money was $5,000."

Dutch won his first tour tournament in 1939—the Big Crosby Open—collecting $1,000. He also won the Texas Open a prize of $1,200. His best year was 1940 when his total prize money was $14,000.

He remained on the tour for a quarter of a century, leaving in 1954 to serve teaching jobs in

At Dietz Tonight Braves Lose, 4-2

POUGHKEEPSIE — The Kingston Braves open their Hudson Valley Rookie League home season at Dietz Stadium tonight against the Poughkeepsie Lasers and Manager Bernie Schaeffer will be hoping his team's defense returns to normal.

Kingston suffered its first loss here last night to the Lasers, 4-2, despite Ed Mercer's four-hitter as the Braves committed five errors. The win was Poughkeepsie's fifth straight.

"We didn't look too bad," said Schaeffer. "We got eight hits off John Kelly and he's one of the best around, and Mercer pitched a good game. But the errors and walks were just enough to beat us."

Only the first Laser run was earned, it came in the bottom of the fourth to break a scoreless deadlock.

Shortstop Rocky Veronesi opened the frame with a walk. Then Arlington High School standout Bob Young lofted a bloop down the first base line which dropped in for a double. Dennis Ladzinski's sacrifice fly produced the run.

The fifth was a disaster. Jerry Hawkins bobbled a grounder to start things off. Second baseman Jay Ackert turned the next ball into an error when he overthrew first and a run came home. Two walks loaded the bases and a third forced in another.

Kingston then made its belated offensive move as Tom Gallo stroked a double. Hawkins cracked a single and when the throw to the plate went wild the Hawk scampered to third.

A ground out by Skip Lyons scored Hawkins. Mercer got himself into trouble again in the sixth when he fielded a roller and threw the ball away. Craig Digilio doubled and Carl Savelli hit into a fielder's choice to knock in the first tally.

The Braves banged out two hits in the top of the seventh but left the runners stranded. It was a frustrating night.

Mercer fanned five and walked an equal number to go.

International Tie

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — A track and field team from Harvard and Yale Universities tied a team from Birmingham University Wednesday, 9-9, on the strength of victories by Yale's Richard Macdonald in two hurdle events.

The American team took the trophy, however, with 100 points, compared to Birmingham's 89.

Perfect Pegs Key BRL Win

KINGSTON — A perfect relay throw from the outfield nipped Paul Mitchell at the plate to end a seventh inning threat and give the Vols a 2-1 victory over Knights of Columbus in Babe Ruth League action Wednesday night in Dietz Stadium.

Vols pitcher Ed Glynn had a nifty shutout going as the Knights came up for the last time. But Charles Barton led off with a single and he moved to second on a balk. Glynn settled down to get the next two men however and it looked like he would survive as opposing hurler Mitchell stepped in.

Paul picked up a Glynn pitch and sent it rocketing up the alley in left center. Barton scored easily as Rich Griggs retrieved the ball and fired it to third baseman Dave Kronick. He in turn whipped it to catcher Walt Houghtaling, who blocked the plate and tagged Mitchell for the final out.

The Vols picked up one in the fifth as Kronick tripled. Steve Kwasnowski walked, and Joe Chick threw wild trying to cut down Kwasnowski's steal attempt.

A single by Glynn, his steal of second, a wild pitch and a grounder produced the other tally.

In other Babe Ruth action, Kingston Lions staved off a late rally to beat Hurley Lions, 6-4, behind the three hit pitching of Joe Primo and Steve Mihic.

Kingston picked up four in the third to take a commanding lead and led 6-1 going into the last inning. But Hurley reached Mihic who had just come into the game for a single and three walks. Primo returned and

The Porter Incident: How Will It Affect Villanova Record?

NEW YORK (AP) — The Howard Porter case has flared again and threatened today to wipe out Villanova's greatest basketball season.

The problem erupted anew Wednesday upon disclosure of papers filed in federal court here that say Porter did indeed sign a professional contract last December while still playing for the Wildcats.

If so, the Wildcats could have erased from the record most of the victories in their 27-7 season, including their runnerup finished to UCLA in the NCAA championship tournament in which Porter was elected the Most Valuable Player. They also supposedly would forfeit some $6,500 revenue from the tournament.

Villanova athletic director Art Mahan said the school would ask the NCAA to join in a thorough investigation and the university would abide by any NCAA ruling.

NCAA director Walter Byers was not available for comment in his office in Kansas City. Warren Brown, NCAA assistant executive director, said he has been "advised of allegations but not read them."

"We're very interested in the situation. We are now trying to review all the documents involved, or alleged to be involved in the case."

Porter, reached in Chicago where he started training camp with the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association, declined to comment and referred all questions to his lawyer.

The 6-foot-8 star, who averaged 23.5 points a game for Villanova last season, signed with the Bulls this spring, prompting a suit filed by the Pittsburgh Condors of the ABA, who claimed they had been given his signed contract by the league.

The latest development in the case was precipitated here when Federal Judge Edward C. McLean refused to seal the papers filed in the case of Pittsburgh against the Bulls.

Although Porter's attorney, Richard G. Phillips of Philadelphia, argued that leaving the papers unsealed "could do irreparable damage" to Porter and his alma mater, the papers were left open for anyone to inspect.

The papers included a document that said Porter signed with the ABA last Dec. 16 and that the contract was assigned by the ABA to the Condors. The Johnson of Charleston, W.Va. contract, according to the documents, called for a salary of

Grich Raps Three Homers But Wings Lose IL Game

By United Press International
The Baltimore Orioles look to Bobby Grich as their shortstop of the future but Grich is busy making a name for himself now in the International League.

Grich, who was up for a short time last season with the parent Orioles of the American League, was returned to Rochester for a chance to play regularly after he failed to displace Mark Belanger as the regular Baltimore shortstop.

But Grich is still looking to make the majors. He banged out three homers Wednesday night—all solo blasts—but it wasn't enough as the Red Wings bowed to the Richmond Braves, 6-4, in the second game of a twinbill. Rochester had taken the first game, 9-2.

Shaun Fitzmaurice had the big blow for the Braves in the nightcap, a grand slam homer in the third inning. Van Kelly tied the contest at 1-1 in the second when he slammed his fourth homer of the season for Richmond. Greg Arnold, who earlier in the season tossed a no-hitter, suffered the defeat—his fifth in seven decisions.

League-leading Syracuse ripped Toledo, 16-6. Rob Gardner, who earlier in the season saw brief tours of duty with both the New York Yankees and the Oakland Athletics, won his first decision in his return to Syracuse. Gardner, who led the league in victories last season with 16, scattered eight hits in going the distance.

Len Boehmen and Ron Blomberg homered for the Chiefs as Syracuse pounded out 19 hits.

In other IL games, Charleston and Louisville divided a doubleheader with the Charlies winning the opener, 11-4, and dropping the nightcap, 5-1. Tidewater bombed Winnipeg, 11-4.

On Sunday at 11 a. m., the Ulster County Circuit Court will be held at the Ridge Runners Club Range near Saugerties.

Tinsley Contending

NORTH MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — Hometowne Richard Tinsley, the defending champion, was in contention two strokes behind leading Bob Dargan of Camden, S.C., as the 72-hole left-handers National Golf Championship went into today's third round.

Dargan was at 147 after shooting a one-over-par 73 Wednesday after a 74 Tuesday.

Second at 75-73-148 at Bob Johnson of Charleston, W.Va. Tinsley had 75-74-149.

Perfect String
For Faerber

Fred Faerber cracked 25 straight en route to 980 total in trap shooting Wednesday night at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club.

Bill Costello was second with 960. Nick Mauro scored 947 and also recorded 25 in a row. Bob Schmiedake hit for 920. Jim Palkovics and Harry Smith had 900's. Tied at 880 were Frank Abate, Grover Ellsworth Jr., Bob Kearney and Stu Miller.

In skeet, Bob Kearney was near perfect with 960 including 25 consecutive hits. Brian Sawchuk tallied 900. Bob Schmiedake carded 880. Stu Miller connected for 867. Grover Ellsworth had 830, and Frank Lauffer hit 800.

On Sunday at 11 a. m., the Ulster County Circuit Court will be held at the Ridge Runners Club Range near Saugerties.

MORE AND MORE AMERICANS ARE BEING DRIVEN TO THIS CONCLUSION.

The Police Department of the City of Detroit removes 20,000 abandoned cars from its roadsides annually. The toll is even higher elsewhere. But your car doesn't have to be a statistic.

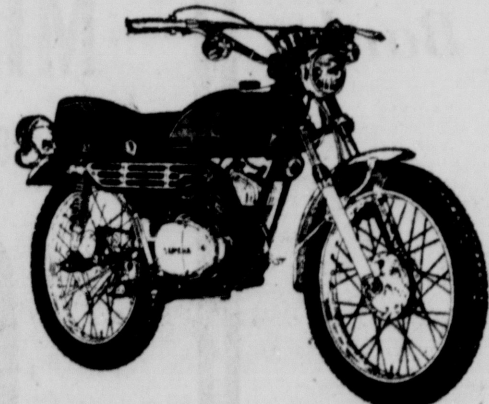

It can be a Volvo. Volvos are built to stay on the road for years, instead of collapsing prematurely beside it.

Exactly how long a Volvo will last is unknown. But in Sweden, eleven years is average. So beat your car to the punch. Trade it in on one of our Volvos. Before it abandons you.

Oswego Golfer High in NCAA

CHICO, Calif. (AP) — Tom Lynch of Oswego, N.Y. State College is among today's second-round leaders in the NCAA College Division Golf Championships here.

Lynch has a two-round total of 147 on tours of 74 and 73, just five strokes behind the tournament's leaders. Greg Edwards of Cal Poly, Bill Dagle of Southwestern Louisiana and Mike Ford of Rollins.

Ford had an eagle two while firing a 69 in Tuesday's second round.

Ping Pong Champs

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweden won the team championship and Tibor Klampar of Hungary captured the individual crown in the finals of the $5,000 Vanderbilt International Table Tennis Tournament Wednesday night.

Sweden, defeated previously unbeaten Japan, 3-0, in the team finals. Klampar upset Stellan Bengtsson, the reigning world singles titleholder, 2-17, 12-21, 21-19, for the singles title.

PGA tour player, as his prize pupil. But in his own right he has earned a bushel of awards along the way, including no less than six holes-in-one.

Twenty-five years later, he still responds to the challenge of a great tournament. "I look forward to the Herdegen each year because of the fellowship with the finest golfers in the county playing on the finest golf courses one can experience," he says. "Each course is unique and challenging and demands the best golf under pressure."

Odeneal, who played his college golf at Springfield College (Mass.) has won several major tournaments during his career. He is a three-time winner of the Attapulgus, Georgia Open (1952-53-55), the Maine Open in 1963, the Moultrie, Ga., Open in 1962.

In the Florida area, Odeneal captured the Capital City Country Club (Tallahassee) championship and also the handicap match play title in 1961. While at Springfield College, he won the Springfield College, Mass. Match Play championship and the Springfield College Alumni tournament five times.

Odeneal's career scoring records are on the spectacular side. He has a 60 to his credit at the Lake Mohonk course, with a low nine of 29. He holds the Granit Club record of 31 for nine holes and had a 63 at the Tallahassee, Fla. Country Club. His best scores in major competition were 289 in the 1963 Maine Open and a 36-hole 137 in the Attapulgus, Ga. Open in 1955.

One of his most remarkable achievements was a hole-in-one on the par-4, 374-yard 18th hole at Shaker Farms Country Club in Westfield, Mass. It was a dog-leg right hole, the green completely hidden from the tee. "I had never played the course, much less the hole," Odeneal recalls. "So I asked the caddy for advice."

"The pro always hits the ball over the trees," was the caddy's advice.

"So, I said to myself, I'm as good as the pro," Odeneal quipped. "I hit the ball over the trees, too, and what happened, the ball rolls right into the Bill Odeneal hasn't lost his charm and grace. He's lost some of the golden touch of his youth. But, as always, he'll be a dominant personality and factor in the 1971 Herdegen.

Legion Takes County Opener

SAUGERTIES Perry had a long single by Rua drove in the fifth run of the inning.

Walks also figured in Kingston's three-run third inning. Hastings and Secreto drew them and Jim Ferraro singled Hastings home. Secreto also came home when left fielder bobbled the hit, Ferraro going to second and scored the third run on Rua's single.

Kingston's final markers had a ring of authenticity to them. Lackaye singled, rode home on Hastings' booming triple to right center. Ferraro chased Hastings home with his second RBI of the game.

The Sawyers averted a shut-out in the sixth when Dee White walked and Jeff Markle singled him to third. Hastings' attempt to pick White off third sailed into left field and the Sawyers had their lone run.

Kingston hosts Cocksackie at Dietz Stadium Friday night at 8:30 p.m. Catskill is the other team in the four-team circuit.

22 Arrested, 2 Newsmen Hurt During Violence

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)

At least 22 persons were arrested Wednesday night and early today, and two persons—

both newsmen—injured in a night of scattered violence in the predominantly black east side of Jacksonville.

Duval County Undersheriff

D.K. Brown linked the disorders with a continuing protest

by some members of the black community over the killing of a 15-year-old black youth last week by a white policeman, who has been suspended.

Four of those arrested,

during what authorities said were incidents of arson, rock and bottle throwing, and looting of at least 10 stores, were whites. Police said the white men were arrested in the black neighborhood in a car in which

police found clubs and lead

pipes.

The Town Board of Appeals of the County of Marblehead, New York, will conduct a Public Hearing

at 8:00 p.m. on Wednesday, July

7, 1971, at the Town Hall, Stone

Ridge, New York, to consider an application by Roman Bardens and

Pratt House, Inc., for Special Use

Permit to operate a boarding house on School House Road, High Falls,

New York. All persons having an interest in this matter are directed to attend the Public Hearing.

SPIRO GOLF BAG — Los Angeles County Supervisor Warren Dorn present Vice President Spiro Agnew with a specially designed golf bag that has a big, bright red cross on it. Agnew, who has had a few of his golf shots go astray and bounce off spectators and fellow golfers, broke up with laughter at the presentation. Agnew was appearing before civic leaders to discuss the administration's revenue sharing and welfare reform. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Your Horoscope

Friday, June 18

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day and an evening to keep your mind centered upon the practical. Make sure your financial affairs are in good order and that your property looks its best so that both the appearance and the value are enhanced by whatever work you do on it today or tonight. Don't commit yourself on future financial matters.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) An ideal day for handling all responsibilities in a most efficient way. A bigwig is quite demanding, but do only what you can without causing too much trouble.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study your appearance and see what improvements you can make to hair and skin, as well as to your health. Be mindful of your conduct in public so that you make the finest impression. Let your clothing be in good taste.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you break any promises it could lead to dire results, so be sure you are dependable. Try to help one in trouble, but don't spend too much money. Avoid a great deal of small talk.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Social activity should be postponed at this time, since you have much work to do. Meeting new personalities over the weekend is good, though. Wait another day before coming to an important decision.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Contact a higher-up and get the ideas that will bring you advancement and make an excellent impression. Buy the appliances that give you more efficiency at your work. Don't be extravagant.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Doing things that bring others, especially those you have recently met, closer to you is fine. Make plans for that vacation now and avoid last-minute rush. Think constructively, clearly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can carry through with paying bills and making collections very easily and efficiently right now. Take short cuts which can save time and energy. Express thoughtful niceties to mate and add to present harmony.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Listening carefully to what a dynamic associate says reveals how to make big headway with this person. Instead of angling so much, get right to the point. Clear up any moot points.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't be afraid of all that work ahead. You can tackle it very easily and complete it efficiently. Discuss a new plan of yours with a good friend. Show that you have wisdom.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you stick to recreations you have enjoyed most in the past, this can be a particularly happy and rewarding day for you. Find the right way to come to a harmonious relationship with mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can eliminate all that arguing and strife at home by working on the intellectual level. Come to a perfect understanding. Showing greater devotion to kin is best way to start.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you handle all that shopping early, you can have more time for fascinating activities over the weekend. Use a different and wiser system for taking care of routines. Put some snap into your wardrobe.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who appears to have a very superficial nature but actually has great depth of thought, plus firmness of action. Make certain to give the finest combined course of education that takes in both the very practical and the most fleeting of subjects. A happy life here, even when others are having a tough time, since your child is endowed with money-making ability. A delightful chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Timely Quotes

We intend no slur on women. In fact, quite the opposite. Hurricanes are among the most awesome forces in nature. No other storms equal them in combined strength, length of life and power. Forecasters regard them with great respect.

—George P. Cressman, director of the U.S. Weather Service, on identifying hurricanes with girls' names.

Our intention to operate with reality does not mean to accept it. We'll operate within the system so we can change it. It is wrong to say the system can't give us anything because it is just not true.

—Huey Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PRESSURE: (Q.) My friends are trying to fix me up with a girl I barely know. I don't want a girl. I can't afford to go out with a girl. I don't have a job and I don't have an allowance.

My mother says I'm too young to go out with girls. But my friends have parties and make out and all that kind of stuff. I'm 12, and my friends are, too. Do you really think I should bother with girls?—Bothered in Nebraska.

(A.) I think you have a realistic, honest, and healthy attitude for a boy your age. You are interested in girls but not ready to go out with them. In a year or two you will be ready to have a girl friend. When you are, make your own choice, and ask her in your own way. Meanwhile, try not to let all the talk worry you.

Boys and girls your age are pretty young to be making out. I'm glad you mentioned it, though. "Making out" is a relatively mild expression. Teen-agers use it extensively. In the sixth grade it might refer to holding hands. In junior high it might mean hugging. In high school it might mean kissing.

It is often misunderstood by adults. Some of them think it means much more than it really does mean to teen-agers.

MARK: (Q.) What is a good age for getting a tattoo? I am 13 and want to hang with the bigger kids. I need something to get me noticeable.—Finally Getting With It in New Jersey.

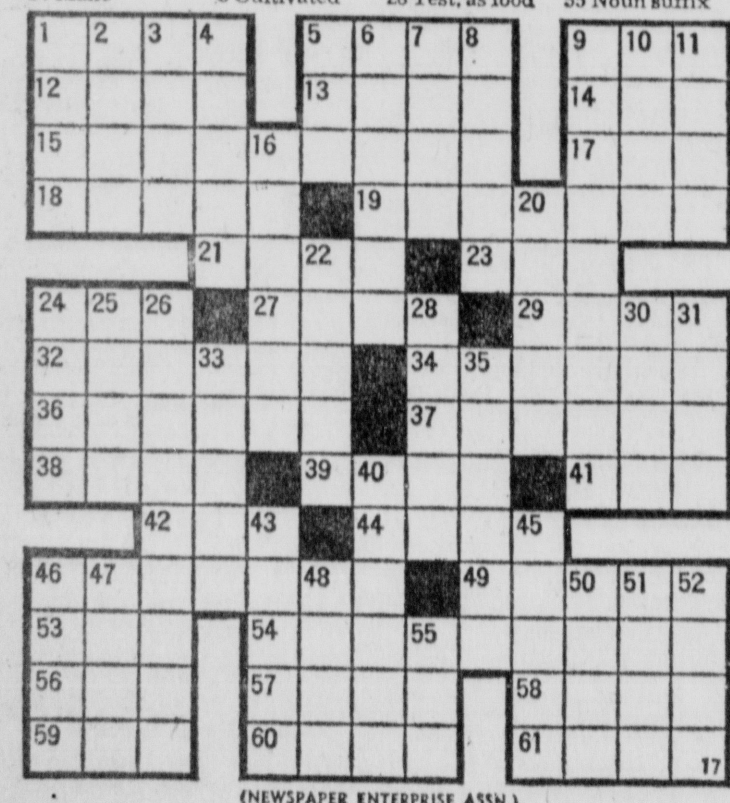

(A.) You can be with it without a tattoo.

A tattoo is just a gimmick. A real boy doesn't have to have a gimmick. Just being himself is enough.

Some TV Hall of Famers

NEW YORK (AP) — A move is afoot to establish a television hall of fame complete with a television program each year to announce the latest winners of a niche.

The project, headed by a former NBC president who is now a communications consultant, Sylvester "Pat" Weaver, is altogether laudable—if baseball has one, why not TV?

The idea, of course, is to honor those who have made outstanding contributions to the medium over the years. Automatically included would be the room horse opera—probably neers—Vladimir Zwoykin, who invented the iconoscope camera and image-orthicon tube which made so much possible; Allen B. DuMont, who dreamed of equipment inexpensive enough to bring pictures and sound into homes rather than into theatres; David Sarnoff, who presided over the birth of network broadcasting.

No television hall of fame would be complete without Milton Berle, whose 1948 show was the young medium's first smash hit; Ed Sullivan, who transferred vaudeville from five-a-day to Sunday nights; Richard M. Nixon, who in 1952 with his "Checkers" speech suggested TV's potential as a force in politics.

Some recognition should go to the imaginative souls who came up with the first living scientists, developers and pioneers—William Boyd and his "Hopalong Cassidy" shows—and its first private eye, "Martin Kane," starring Lee Tracy.

Credit should be given for some fascinating benchmarks. There were the televised Senate hearings into organized crime in 1951 with the cameras focused on the hands of witness vision drama that made the Frank Costello; there was Ed. 1950's memorable—Paddy Murrow's 1954 assault Chayefsky, Reginald Rose, Tad on the tactics of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

There were the spectacular unique to television is the late performances of Mary Martin night talk show. Some credit and Ethel Merman in the 1953 the 1950 "Broadway Open Ford 50th anniversary show House" with the blonde dumb and the first broadcast, in 1956, Dagmar as being the prototype of the film classic "The Wizard of the Paars, Carsons, and of Oz." There was also Dennis Cavett's. Others believe it started James, the daytime game show ed with Steve Allen and the host and the announcer who original "Tonight Show." Jack turned housewives into fans of Paar, who succeeded Allen, professional wrestling, turned it into something like an Some recognition should go to art form.

Four-Front National Offensive

Nixon Asks More Money, Office in Drug Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is putting his political prestige behind a four-front "national offensive" against traffic in illegal narcotics.

After weeks of debate within the administration—one sticky point being whether to acknowledge and deal with the extent of drug abuse among American troops stationed in South Vietnam—Nixon drafted a special message on the subject for presentation to Congress today.

Besides asking for more money to combat narcotics trade and rehabilitate hard-drug addicts, Nixon wants to create a new White House office of drug abuse prevention to concentrate on research and education in the area.

He also formulated a specific plan for dealing with drug-addicted U.S. servicemen overseas and, perhaps less specifically, one for discouraging the production and transportation here of illegal narcotics harvested in foreign countries.

With public and congressional concern about the rise of GI drug addiction in South Vietnam, West Germany and elsewhere, Nixon proposes identifying and treating addicts in uniform before they are returned to civilian life. Congressional legislation will be needed to extend the service terms of some uniformed men and women if extra time is necessary to wean them away from narcotics before they receive honorable discharges.

At a June 1 news conference Nixon said "A national offensive on this problem" is needed. He promised to "step up our national program on four fronts."

After meeting with Nixon Tuesday, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford cited what he termed the four main points of the Nixon plan:

1. A new attempt to dry up overseas sources of supply—a decade-old undertaking that has borne scant fruit heretofore. Ford noted the President discussed the subject for nearly two hours Monday with American ambassadors to South Vietnam, Thailand, Turkey, Mexico and France—all countries figuring prominently in the international narcotics pipeline.

2. Increased efforts to enforce the law effectively against sellers of illegal drugs.

3. A greatly-expanded campaign to detoxify GI addicts before they are discharged and put them in a readjustment program that could extend their terms of service.

4. An antidrug educational drive aimed principally at young people.

The new White House Office of Drug Abuse Prevention, as Nixon sees it, will concentrate on research and education.

If Congress approves, he will name as its head Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, Chicago pharmacologist noted for methadone treatment of heroin addicts. He now directs a statewide drug-abuse program in Illinois.

Terrorist Mission

SANTIAGO (UPI) — A terrorist that was found to have been taken from a policeman killed in a supermarket robbery Sunday.

Salazar opened fire, killing policeman Carlos Perez Bretti and critically wounding Gerardo Romero. He then began walking through the corridors of the building, tossing lighted dynamite charges right and left. There were no injuries caused by the dynamite explosions.

When police closed in and detective Mario Marin grappled with Salazar, the VOP terrorist shouted "kill me now, you sons of bitches" and touched off a dynamite charge strapped to his body. Both Salazar and Marin were killed in the blast.

Police identified the man as Heriberto Salazar, 45, a member of the leftist terrorist group known as the Organized Vanguard of the People (VOP). He was wanted for the assassination June 8 of former Chilean Vice President and Interior Minister Edmundo Perez Zujovic.

Two brothers also wanted for the killing — Ronald and Arturo Rivera Calderon — were killed Sunday in a gunbattle with police.

U.S., Japan Sign Oki Treaty

TOKYO (UPI) — The United States and Japan today signed a treaty returning to Japanese rule in 1972 the island of Okinawa, which U.S. forces captured in 1945 and turned into a military fortress.

Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi in Tokyo and Secretary of State

William P. Rogers were signing documents ending the United States' last military occupation of Japanese soil.

The treaty calls for the United States to close or give to the Japanese 46 of the 134 American military bases and

Union Chief Tells Congress Money Would Save Lockheed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the union representing most of Lockheed's work force said today Congressional refusal to save the firm from bankruptcy would destroy 30,000 jobs and throw as many as 90,000 other people out of work.

Coming atop of Congress' deathblow for the supersonic transport (SST), which led to heavy layoffs in Seattle, Lockheed's collapse would be disastrous for members of the International Association of Machinists, Floyd E. Smith, IAM President, told the Senate Banking Committee.

He aimed his arguments directly at Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who led the battle against the SST and is now leading the fight to deny a Lockheed said its bankruptcy is imminent if the government declines to guarantee repayment of bank loans it needs to complete work of its L1011 TriStar jetliner. The firm says it can complete its defense contracts in bankruptcy but would have to jettison the TriStar.

"When Congress in its wisdom decided to kill the SST it dealt the aerospace industry and aerospace workforce a damaging blow," Smith said in testimony prepared for the committee. "A followup refusal to help Lockheed would compound the injury."

facilities on Okinawa before or shortly after re-establishment of Japanese rule. The United States will keep 88 armed installations on the island.

A U.S. official in Tokyo told American newsmen the United States defense capabilities in east Asia will not be weakened.

"We have not diminished the strength of our military effectiveness by this agreement," the official said. "We've had pretty much of a free hand from the Japanese in determining which military facilities we needed to keep in order to maintain our defense commitments."

The exact date of Okinawa's return next year will be set after the treaty is ratified by the U.S. Senate and the Japanese Diet (parliament).

The treaty deliberately skirts the issue of whether nuclear weapons will be removed from the island as demanded by thousands of Japanese who demonstrated throughout the nation for three days last year.

Feelings in Okinawa ran so high against continued U.S. occupation of the island that bloody riots broke out last December against Americans.
